PRESIDENT WILSON DISAPPROVES BOMB ATTACKS ON CITIES

Instructs Diplomatic Representatives of U. S. to Let Belligerent Countries Know Views on Aerial Warfare on Places Occupied by Noncombatants.

NO SPECIFIC CASE MENTIONED BY HIM

Unofficial Exchanges Probably Based on Hague Article—Responses, if Any, Not Made Known at Washington.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Wilson has communicated unofficially to the diplomatic representatives of the United States in the belligerent countries of Europe his disapproval of bomb attacks from aircraft on unfortified cities occupied by noncombatants.

The President was careful not to take the matter up officially and did not even make his communication through the State Department, but personally addressed the American Ambassadors abroad. The President took this course, it became known today, nearly two months ago.

The facts came to light through the publication of a report that the President had discussed the matter with European diplomats here. This, however, was denied by some of those mentioned in connection with it, including the German Ambassador.

Method of Notification a Mystery.

Just how the American diplomats abroad were to convey President Wilson's feelings to the foreign Governments has not been disclosed, as White House officials, in the absence of the President, declined to discuss the subject.

It is believed here, however, that the President called attention to the article of The Hague convention of 1907, to which all the principal belligerents are signatory, which provides for notice of 24 hours before the bombardment or attack in order that noncombatants may remove themselves from the danger zone.

While there have been any unofficial responses from the belligerents was not known here, but American diplomats were instructed by the President, it is understood, to handle the matter with such discretion and delicacy as would tend to end aerial attacks without notice and at the same time preserve the friendship which the United States feels toward all the belligerents involved.

Specific Attacks Not Mentioned.

It is not believed the President mentioned any specific violation, but expressed his views on the general subject of aerial attacks.

It is supposed that the American diplomats used their good offices in a personal way with the belligerent Governments without perhaps even mentioning the fact that they were doing so at the request of the President, as such methods of obtaining a desired end are not unusual in diplomacy.

British Aviators Had Orders Not to Cross Swiss Territory

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, replied in the House of Commons yesterday to a query from Frederick H. Booth regarding the allegation that the French and British aviators who recently made a raid upon the Zeppelin airship factory at Friedrichshafen had crossed Swiss territory in their flight.

"Aviators who are flying at high altitudes," he said, "find it almost impossible to determine the course which they are taking. However, the British airmen who made the recent attack upon the Zeppelin factory had explicit instructions to avoid crossing neutral territory. They carried maps indicating the course which they were to follow."

Churchill added that no agreement had been reached at the Paris conference regarding the passage of belligerent aircraft over neutral countries.

MAN PUSHED INTO PIT DIES OF HIS INJURIES

Spine Was Fractured—Police Unable to Find Motive for Attack.

Herman Materne, 66 years old, of 1026 Dillon street, died at the city hospital at 7:50 a. m. today after suffering a fractured spine and innternal injuries early yesterday morning. He was found in a 40-foot pit in the Materne Manufacturing Co.'s plant, Eighteenth and Gratiot streets, where he was night watchman for the company owned by his brother, John.

Materne was carried up a ladder, out of the pit, by a passing policeman who heard his cries. At the city hospital he said that he had returned from investigating a noise outside, and was standing near the pit, when someone pushed him into it, backwards. The police investigation failed to develop why anyone should seek his death.

Bomb That Failed to Drop Knocked From Balloon With Ax

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Standard's special correspondent in Northern France, under today's date, says:

"A remarkable feat has earned distinction for the commander of the dirigible who was sent out to destroy a railway junction, occupied by Germans, with bombs.

"Descending low after evading the enemy's searchlights, the dirigible dropped three bombs in rapid succession, but the fourth after the balloon's mechanism had been deranged, failed to slide from its tube.

"The dirigible was in imminent danger of being blown to pieces, but the commander boldly climbed out on the framework with an ax in his hand. Now he was under the full glare of the searchlights and pelted with bullets. He hacked away at the tube and its projectile only just in time. The bomb exploded 300 feet below him. The dirigible was tossed about, but it got away safely. Its purpose was fully accomplished."

LETTER CARRIERS ARE TAKING CENSUS OF CITY

Postoffice Collecting information on Service to Equalize the Work of Its Men.

St. Louis letter carriers are taking a census of the city. For the last week they have been making a record of the number of persons in each house on their routes. It is expected that the work will be finished and the results known in another week.

The primary object is to obtain information for the use of the postoffice officials as to the service that is being given and the possibility of improving it by equalizing the work of the carriers in the various districts. The canvass will provide interesting information to the public about the population of the city.

LION DEVOURS INDIAN BOY

Companion Says They Threw Stones at Cubs.

"Big Mack," a Piute Indian, who brought in the story, said two Shoshone boys wandered in the hills and seeing a lioness and cubs stoned the cubs in ignorance of the danger. The lioness pounced on one boy. The other returned to camp and guided other Indians to the scene."

WING SING IS DEAD, LEAVING ESTATE A CHINESE PUZZLE

Laundry Bundles Tied Up (Legally) and Customers Wear Coat Collars About Necks.

SEVEN KNOTS IN TANGLE

All of Them Would Be Cut if Irish Landlord Could but Read Cantonese.

Wing Sing is dead and Lawrence Tracy mourns. So also mourn the owners of sundry shirts and collars and pajamas and under-garments that repose this minute on the shelves of Wing Sing's laundry at 2431 North Spring avenue with tickets nicely tucked into the parcels. Resident of the neighborhood have the tickets which correspond, but laundry tickets are very poor substitutes for shirts, et cetera, and the holders thereof yearn to exchange them for the shelved things of warmth and adornment. They may not do so—and this is why.

In the first place, as mentioned, Wing Sing is dead. In the second place, another Chinese buried him. In the third place Public Administrator Newell has taken charge of Wing Sing's estate, consisting in considerable part of undelivered laundry. In the fourth place the Chinese who buried Wing Sing has filed a claim for $80 with the Public Administrator. In the fifth place the Public Administrator has put Wing Sing's estate under lock and key. In the sixth place Lawrence Tracy, Wing Sing's landlord (before Wing Sing died) has declined the suggestion of the Public Administrator that he pay $50 and take over Wing Sing's estate. In the seventh place the Chinese who buried Wing Sing has offered $20 for the estate, provided the $30 is applied on the claim for $80, but the Public Administrator has spurned the offer.

Outside of That, All Is Well.

With these few exceptions there is nothing to prevent Lawrence Tracy getting possession of the room in which Wing Sing lived and laundered and died and nothing to prevent the owners of the shirts and so forth from coming into their own.

Up to last Sunday two weeks ago Wing Sing lived and ironed in the basement of the Lawrence Tracy domicile. That day Wing Sing died, and a wealthy countryman paid an undertaker $80 to bury him.

William F. Bohn, Public Administrator Newell's chief deputy, went out and had a look at the estate, and took possession. Tracy was concerned about regaining possession. Bohn suggested that administration of the estate would be facilitated if Tracy would buy it for $50 and recoup himself by delivering the parcels to Wing Sing's customers and collecting therefor.

Tracy Is Orientalist.

But Lawrence Tracy knew his limitations. One of them was that he couldn't read the characters on the laundry tickets. So he said he was much obliged, but he didn't think he would go into the Chinese laundry business. Not, at any rate, until he learned to read Chinese, and he didn't think that would be soon.

"It would be this way," he said. "A man would come in and hand me a ticket and say, 'Gimme my laundry.' And I'd say, 'What's your name?' And he'd tell me his name. And I couldn't tell from the ticket what his name was in Chinese. And I'd say, with a wave of my hand, 'Here's all the chink left. Pick out yours!' And he'd pick out the biggest bundle and carry it away. And then another man would come in and I'd find out that the first one had carried this one's shirts away. And I'd tell him to take the best of what was left. And don't you see what the late comers would do to me?"

Bohn said "Oh, very well," and locked the laundry door and went away, after warning Tracy that if Wing Sing's estate was touched or tampered with Tracy would have to answer to the Probate Court.

Laundry Is Still Locked.

The laundry door is still locked. Wing Sing's customers come and look in through the glass door panel. Then they go upstairs and ask Tracy when he thinks the door will be opened. And Tracy says he doesn't know, but he hopes it won't be long because the rent isn't likely to be coming in from a Chinese who has been dead three weeks this coming Sunday.

In the meantime some of the young men of the neighborhood are going about with their coat collars turned up because they can't get their shirts and collars because and so forth, and some "Gents Furnishing Houses" around there have been doing an increased business.

British Aviator Destroys German Ammunition Train

LONDON, Nov. 27.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Northern France says:

"Wednesday about noon a tremendous explosion was heard and felt for miles along the allies' line. The source of the explosion apparently was behind the German line. Later it was learned that a British naval airman had dropped a bomb squarely on a German ammunition train, which blew up."

WITNESS UNABLE TO TELL ORIGIN OF CAMPBELL'S SCAR

James F. Forgerty, in Will Suit Hearing in New York, Says Mark Was on Forehead.

ATTORNEY ON THE STAND

Says Copy of Baptismal Record Is Admissible Evidence Under Law of State.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The taking of depositions in the Campbell will contest was resumed in the offices of Sullivan and Cromwell today.

James F. Fogarty, who testified Tuesday, was recalled for a further redirect examination on the point constantly brought up in Attorney Ottofy's cross-examination that Campbell had a depression in his skull as the result of a street assault of many years ago. Fogarty was the only witness who had admitted having seen any sign of injury about the head of the dead millionaire.

Attorney Jourdan brought out that what Fogarty had in mind was a scar on the forehead, the cause of which he knew nothing.

After a walt of an hour, Henry H. Pierce, of Sullivan & Cromwell, was recalled by the defense to expound the law of New York State relative to the admission in evidence of certified copies of birth records. Ottofy objected on the ground that the statute law was itself the best evidence on the point. Pierce testified that such a certified copy was admissable in evidence under Section 955 under the New York court civil procedure and that it has always been held in New York that public records certified by the custodian thereof have been admissable in evidence.

Questioned About Records.

Pierce was also questioned as to the admissibility of the records of baptismal and marriage records as evidence of baptism and marriages. Ottofy objected to this question on the ground that in the Missouri law such evidence was not admissible and the New York laws could not control a cause on trial in Missouri, after which Pierce answered that such records were accepted as evidence of pedigrees in New York.

On cross-examination Pierce cited the case of Jackson versus King (Fifth Cowan) as one in which such evidence was accepted as proof of pedigree. Asked to explain what he meant by pedigree, whether he meant such evidence was accepted as proof of parentage, Pierce said such testimony was accpeted as presumptive evidence of parentage.

When pinned down as to whether, in the Jackson vs. King case a sworn copy of a baptismal record was accepted as a proof of parentage of a child, Pierce was not sure that was the direct issue in that case. Asked if he could cite a case in which such evidence had been received as proof of parentage, he asked and was given permission to consult a memorandum. Then he got a copy of Fifth Cowan and went over the Jackson vs. King case and also cited a recent case, Layton vs. Kraft, 111, Appellate Division, New York Supreme Court, 342, in which the records of marriages and baptism in the Collegiate Church of New York City were admitted to prove parentage which was the issue in both cases.

Merely Presumptive Proof.

He admitted the laws of the State did not compel the keeping of records of marriages and baptisms by the State and that this evidence in the cases cited had been accepted merely as presumptive proof, subject to rebuttal. Because the keeping of such records was not compulsory under the law. Ottofy moved all the testimony of the witness be stricken out.

Then prompted by Judge Goode, Pierce corrected his testimony, after looking at the statute by stating that clergymen are compelled by law to keep record of marriage.

Pierce could not say whether this law had ever been construed by a court, or whether it had ever been repealed or amended, nor would he swear it was the State law in 1898. Court then adjourned until later in the day.

15 NEW DIPTHERIA CASES REPORTED IN 24 HOURS

Health Department Officials Say the Contagion Is Slowly Dying Out.

Only 15 cases of diphtheria were reported to the city health officials during the past 24 hours. The contagion seems to be dying out slowly, physicians say.

Less than 300 cases are now being treated in the city and it is hoped by the officials that this number will be quickly decreased.

Kaiser Visits French, Hopes for Friendship in Future

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Emperor William is described in a letter received by one of the editors of Patrie from a certain Capt. "M.," undergoing treatment at a hospital in the German fortress of Metz, as having visited the French wounded, saying:

"I give my imperial homage, gentlemen, to your valor, and, notwithstanding the cruel circumstances of the present, I do not despair of seeing one day Germany and France united by ties of sincere friendship."

Cherokee Indian Bride and Husband, Her 'Chief of Men'

MR. and MRS. RICHARD CROKER.

CROKER'S INDIAN BRIDE AMBITIOUS FOR CHEROKEES

Her Dreams as Child to Express Ideals of Tribe Won School Training for Her.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MUSKOGEE, Ok., Nov. 27.—The marriage of Beulah Benton Edmondson, a Cherokee Indian girl, to Richard Croker, former chief of Tammany Hall, in New York City yesterday, marks a romantic chapter in the history of the Cherokees. The bride has dreamed from childhood of opportunity to give expression to the lofty ideals which have characterized her race and her marriage gives her ample means to gratify her ambition.

In the remote hills of Delaware County, Oklahoma, then Indian Territory Beulah Edmondson was born 30 years ago. Her father, Wash T. Edmondson, and her mother still live there in a comfortable farm home.

Beulah was a winsome and attractive child. She grew into charming womanhood, with a desire for knowledge and expression.

Something She Wanted to Tell.

When she as a child roamed the hills and waded the streams of her native country she often puzzled her Indian parents and acquaintances by saying "There is something in me that I want to tell and cannot." This "something" developed with years and training.

While her parents were and still are in comparatively poor circumstances, Beulah was fortunate in her kinsmen. W. W. Hastings of Tahlequah, Ok., is her uncle. She is his favorite niece. Hastings wanted to find out what that "something" was. So he caused her parents to send Beulah to the Cherokee national seminary for girls at Tahlequah, where the Cherokees for nearly a century have educated their girls.

When she had finished this school, Beulah's thirst for knowledge was greater than ever. With her Uncle Hastings she discussed her future. It was arranged for her to continue her studies at the Curry School of Expression, Boston. The expense was borne by Hastings, himself a Cherokee, who has attained notable success as the leading attorney of his race, representing his nation in all litigation at Washington, and who was recently elected to Congress. He is one of the wealthiest men of the Cherokee nation.

Attended Chicago University.

After finishing at the Copley School, Mis sEdmondson went to Chicago, where she took additional work in expression in the Chicago University. She returned to Muskogee, where for a short time she taught dramatic expression in the schools, and then she went to New York.

Her knowledge of Indians, her culture and her beauty attracted much attention. She took an active interest in woman's suffrage both in New York and Washington. She has lectured frequently in the past year before the national organization of Camp Fire Girls, and it appears that the craft

DELEGATE FRANCIS OF WARD 9 TAKEN IN POLICE RAID

Patrolmen Say They Saw Craps Game in Progress Through a Side Window.

John J. Francis, member of the House of Delegates for the Ninth Ward, was one of six men arrested in a raid on the Tammany Club at 417 Sidney street at 3 a. m. today.

The policemen who made the raid reported that they climbed to the roof of a shed and, looking through a side window of the clubroom, saw a craps game in progress there.

According to the official report Sergt. Lanz and three patrolmen of the Wyoming street station suspected that gambling was going on at the club. They raised a ladder to the roof of the shed. The report says they saw men shooting craps and watched the game for some time. Then they went down the ladder and pushed open the door of the clubroom.

As the policemen entered, the report says, one of the men threw the dice on top of a wardrobe. The dice were taken by the police as evidence.

The Tammany Club is an unchartered organization and the members conduct it on the bummelkasse plan. The policemen, who made the report, say no beer was in sight when the raid was made.

The men arrested gave these names: George Eitel, a horse trader, of 2908 South Seventh street; August Beck, carpenter, 202 St. George street; James Gelmer, bookkeeper, 2519 South Tenth street; Charles Ledhelm, painter, 3021 South Seventh street; John J. Francis, saloon keeper, 2600 South Broadway, and August Zanger, laborer, of 200 Victor street.

Francis could not be found when a reporter endeavored to obtain a statement from him.

August Beck, another of those arrested, said he and Francis and others were drinking beer at the club when the policemen entered. He denied there was a craps game or any other form of gambling at the club.

EUROPEAN CAPITALS IN THE DARK AS TO GREAT BATTLE IN POLAND

GERMANS CAPTURE 40,000 PRISONERS AND 70 CANNON

Artillery Fire Slackens Along Battle Line in Belgium, and Quiet Prevails on Long Front in France—Rheims Violently Bombarded by Kaiser's Troops While Neutral Journalists Make a Tour of City.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—While the belief grows hourly that the Russians in Northern Poland have won the greatest battle of the war, actual details of the operations in this locality still are withheld.

From Petrograd comes a report that the patience of the Russian people, awaiting official confirmation of the reported victory, is approaching the breaking point, and the same thing may be said of the public here. Berlin announces today that no decision has been reached in the struggle.

German reports, without entering into any such details as dates, describe successful operations in the region of this great battle. It is evident that the comparative failure of the Austro-German operations along the Czenstochowa front gave the Russians opportunity to envelop Gen von Hindenburg after this brilliant German leader had thrown a wedge into his antagonist's center. The Russians to the sotuh, safe on their own front, were able to strike northward, thus breaking the enemy, who had passed east beyond their right flank.

Astonishment at German Plan.

Military critics at Petrograd profess to be astonished at the German assault on Lodz, maintaining that such a movement made the repulse of the invaders inevitable. The critics declare that unless the German advance toward Kutno and Lodz was part of a larger movement, the operation was too hazardous to be credible. A third German army in the vicinity of Wielun has initiated an advance which is believed in London to have been started too late to be of any use.

On the other battle fronts, quiet prevails. Along the Franco-Belgian line the opposing armies seem content to face each other and nothing has happened to indicate that the Germans have started the expected resumption of their effort to break through the allied lines on their way to the coast.

The Petrograd correspondent of the Morning Post sends the following regarding the operations in Russian Poland:

"The temper of the public is being tried to the breaking point by the habit of the headquarters' staff in withholding important news of a Russian victory merely in hope of announcing still better things in a few days. Reports come from a dozen different sources showing how the German forces have been shattered.

"The German corps, which broke through the Russian center at Brzesiny, are still trying to get away from the region of Strykow, where they have been held by the Russians for three days, but apparently they still refuse to lay down their arms. Conditions are such, however, that it is only a matter of time when they must surrender or be annihilated."

No Decisive Engagements in East; Germans Make Progress in Argonne

BERLIN, Nov. 27, (by wireless to London)—An official announcement given out in Berlin today says:

"In the Eastern arena of the war there were no decisive engagements yesterday.

"English ships did not attack the coast of Flanders again yesterday. There have been no actual changes along the battle front in the Western arena. To the north of Langemarck we have taken a group of houses and made a number of prisoners.

"Our attack in the Argonne region has made further progress. French attacks in the neighborhood of Apremont and to the east of St. Mihiel were repulsed."

An official communication issued yesterday says:

"There is no change in the situation in East Prussia.

"Our troops under Gen. von Mackensen, at Lods and Lowicz, inflicted heavy losses on the First and on the Second and on a portion of the Fifth Russian armies. In addition to many killed and wounded, we have in our possession about 40,000 uninjured prisoners, 70 cannon, 160 ammunition wagons and 120 machine guns, while we destroyed 30 cannon.

"In these battles our young troops did brilliantly, in spite of great sacrifices.

"We have not succeeded in bringing this fighting to a close, in spite of the excellent results already gained. This is due to the enemy bringing up extra strong reinforcements from the east and the west.

"Wednesday we repulsed their attacks everywhere, and the final result is still pending."

Rheims Violently Bombarded While Neutral Journalists Visit the City.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The War Office's official announcement, given out this afternoon, says:

"The slackening of the artillery fire of the enemy was noted all along the line during the day of Nov. 26. Two infantry attacks directed against the heads of bridges which we had thrown down on the right bank of the Yser to the south of Dixmude were easily repulsed.

"There was no other engagement on the rest of the front in Belgium and as far as the Oise nor was there any action on the Aisne or in Champagne. Nevertheless, Rheims was rather violently bombarded during the time that a number of journalists from neutral countries were making a visit to the city.

"In the Argonne some infantry attacks resulted in the loss and then the recapture of certain trenches. The men engaged in this fighting never exceeded a battalion (1000 men). The ground lost and then re-

"Along the heights of the Meuse and in the Vosges there is nothing to report."

The announcement issued last night said there had been complete calm in Belgium, cannonading without infantry attacks in the center and a small engagement to the east of Verdun.

NOTE—This statement refers to the recent engagements in which the Germans penetrated the Russian line, and does not clarify the situation since the arrival of Russian reinforcements caused the Germans to fall back.

Six Feet of Snow Helps Servians; Austrian Campaign Lags.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Telegraphing from Saloniki, the Morning Post's correspondent says:

"The news from Servia is optimistic. The Austrians are not following up their success at Valjevo. This fact is due mainly to the appalling weather conditions. There has been a heavy snowfall between Nish and Uskub. At Kumanovo the snow is six feet deep.

"The wintry weather will aid the Servians, who already occupy positions of great natural strength. The morale of the army is excellent. The public is determined to carry the war to the bitter end.

"Forty thousand new troops, counting young men from 18 to 19 years of age, have joined the army before Kraguyevatz."

Germans Retreat Under Conditions Described as Unfavorable.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 27.—The following official communication from general headquarters was issued yesterday:

"In the battle of Lodz, which continues to develop, the advantage remains with our troops.

"The Germans are making strenuous efforts to facilitate the retreat of their troops, which, having penetrated in the direction of Brezeziny, are now retiring to the region of Strykow under conditions very unfavorable to them.

"On the Austrian front our action continues with success. In the fighting of Nov. 25 we took as many as 8000 prisoners, including two regiments with their commanders and their officers."

Russians in Caucasus Dispose of Heavy Kurdish Forces.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 27.—An official communication from the general staff of the army of the Caucasus says:

"In the direction of Erzerum the pursuit of the routed enemy has been terminated.

"In the past few days a series of engagements have taken place south of the Valley of Alaschkert, where we have disposed of considerabl Kurdish forces, who were reinforced this time by regular troops.

"In other sections no important changes have taken place."

One German Corps Reported to Have Surrendered.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Telegraphing from Petrograd regarding the fighting around Lodz in Russian Poland, the correspondent of the Matin says:

"One German army corps, which was surrounded by Russian troops, surrendered in a body. This represents nearly 50,000 prisoners. Another corps, which also had been cut off, has now been completely put to rout.

"The Russians are attacking along the Czenstochowa-Cracow line with redoubled intensity."

Austrians Repulse Russians in Western Galicia.

BERLIN, by wireless to London, Nov. 27.—An official report issued in Vienna says:

"The fighting in Russian Poland has assumed the proportions of a continuous battle. In Western Galicia our troops have repulsed the Russians. Marked progress has been made in the fighting in the Carpathians.

"Near the Kolubara River in Servia the enemy's center is in a very strong position near Lazarevatz, but we attacked and took 1200 prisoners, three guns, four ammunition wagons and three machine guns. In the south of Ljig we took the eastern heights and 300 prisoners. From Valjevo our troops have advanced to Kosjovici."

NISH, Servia, Nov. 23.—An official statement regarding the fighting in Northern Servia says:

"The battle which commenced on Nov. 20 on the Lasarevatz-Mionitza front and in which we repelled the enemy and captured a hundred prisoners, still continues.

"On the 21st, our heavy artillery bombarded the Austrian monitors off Semlin and forced them to withdraw, at the same time silencing the enemy's artillery."

Russian Guns Have Done Little Damage at Przemysl.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 27.—Aviators returning from the Austrian fortress of Przemysl, say, according to a dispatch received here from Budapest, that the Russian bombardment has not done the slightest damage. The defenders of the fortress are reported to be showing the greatest activity and to be continually repulsing the Russians. The fortress has provisions for a year, the airmen assert, and the garrison is in excellent spirits.

Goeben Had 11 Men Killed in Recent Fight With Russians.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—In her recent engagement with the Russian Black Sea fleet the Turkish cruiser Goeben lost 11 men killed. It is said that only one shot, and that above the water line, struck the Goeben.

British Collier Blown Up by Mine off Grimsby; Crew Saved.

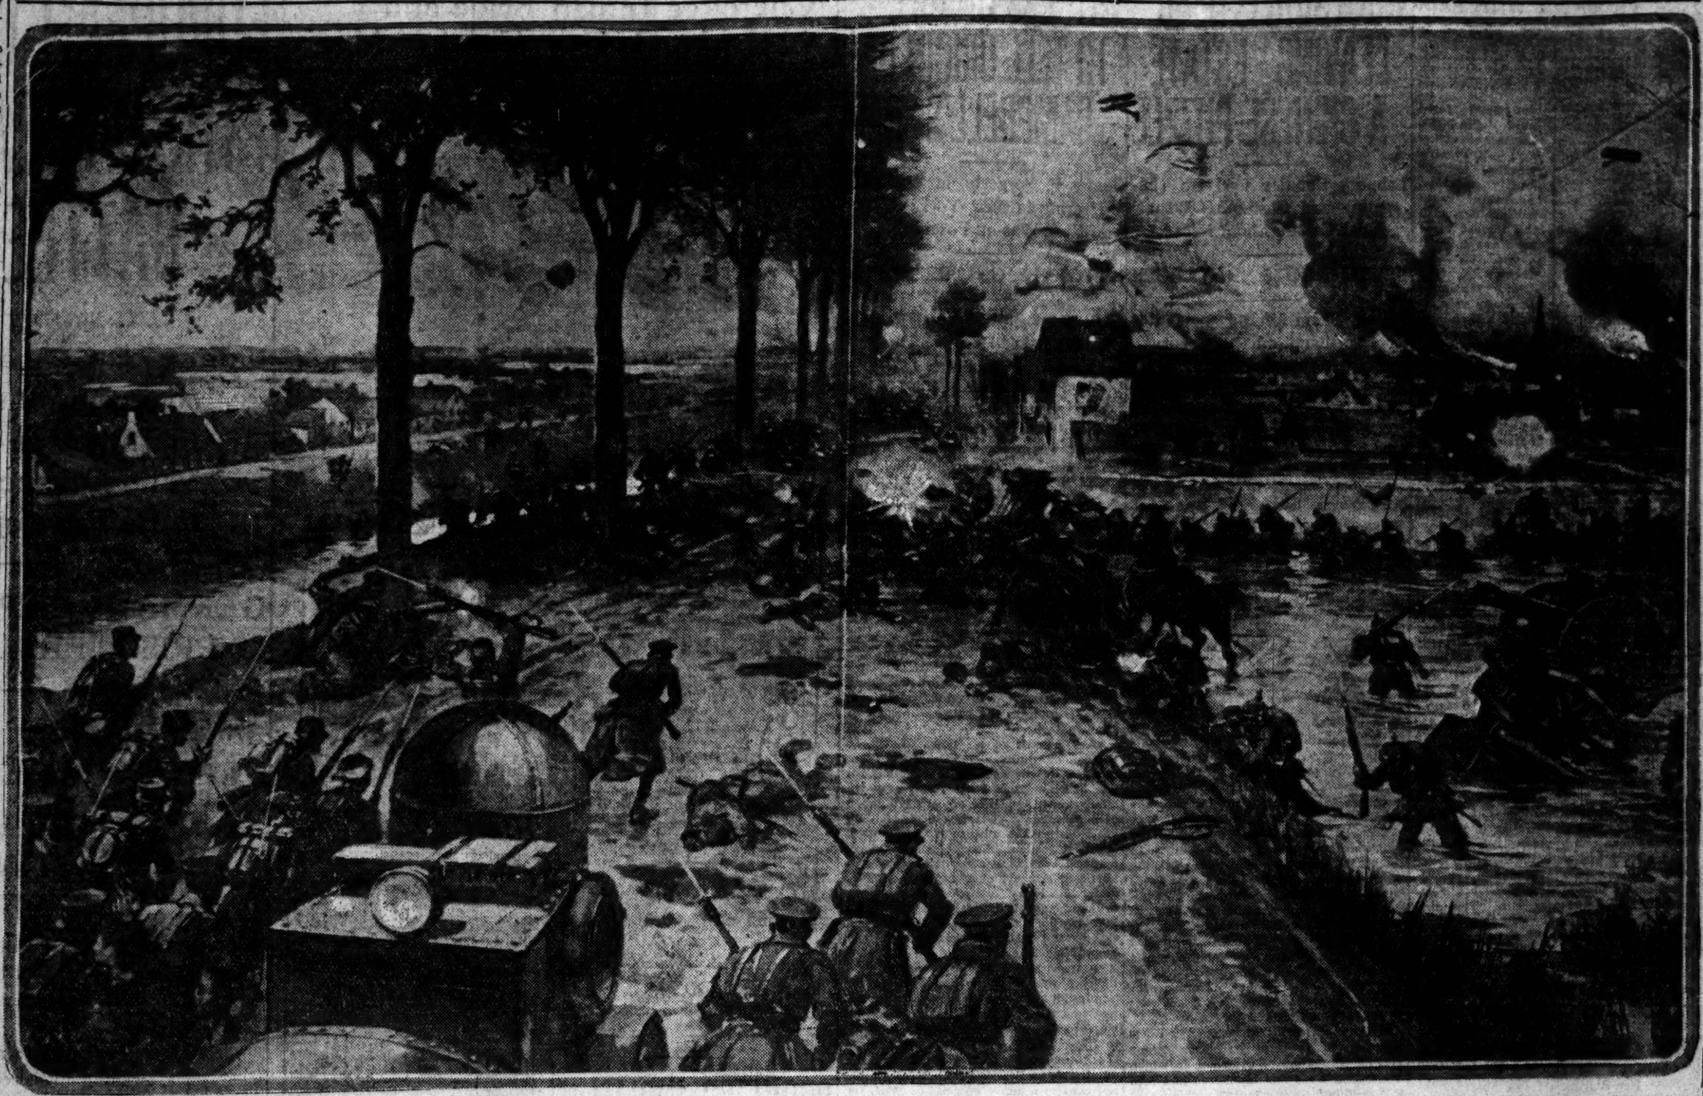

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The British Admiralty this evening announced that the collier Khartoum had been blown up today by a mine off Grimsby. The crew of the Khartoum was landed at Grimsby.

Grimsby is on the south bank of the Humber, 15 miles southeast of Hull.

The Khartoum was of 1980 tons net. She was 315 feet long, 40 feet beam and 20 feet deep. The vessel was built at Stockton in April, 1906.

An Incident of the Fight for the Road to Calais in Early November

The road to Calais was literally the road to ruin for the German left in the fighting in the early days of November. Caught by the inundations on the right bank of the Yser during the desperate struggles round Ypres. The German artillery stuck in the marshy ground and their infantry were repulsed with great loss by an allied force with an armored car and machine gun.

German Deaconnesses and Surgeons Sentenced in France

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The permanent courtmartial yesterday sentenced Surgeon-Majors Collins and Wohlfart, who were in charge of the principal field hospital of the Second German army corps, to a year's imprisonment for alleged pillage. Nine deaconesses attached to the hospital were given sentences varying from one month to three months, and 20 subordinates sentences ranging from one month to three years, on the same charge. Eleven other persons connected with the hospital were acquitted.

The hospital was captured by the French at Peronne Sept. 15. The bulk of the baggage aroused the suspicion of the French army officials and its search was ordered. In that of Surgeon-Major Collins, it was charged, there were found three Tanagra statuettes, with the labels of the Peronne Museum attached to them. It was alleged that in the baggage of the deaconesses there were pieces of silk, carpets and fine linens which the deaconesses said had been given to them by Carmelite Sisters in appreciation of their kindness to the French wounded.

BIG BRITISH BATTLESHIP, TORN TO PIECES, SANK IN 5 MINUTES; 700 MEN LOST

Accident Occurred Off Sheerness, 35 Miles From London, When Vessel Was Taking on Ammunition—Statesmen Blame Spies

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Officially the destruction of the battleship Bulwark in Sheerness harbor, 35 miles from London, yesterday, is regarded as due to an accidental explosion in her forward magazine from causes as yet unknown.

This was the theory advanced by Winston Churchill, the First Lord of the Admiralty, in the House of Commons when he announced the news.

There was no great upheaval of water, he said, as would have occurred if she had been torpedoed or struck by a mine. Instead, the ship was enveloped in smoke and flame, and when this had cleared nothing could be seen but wreckage floating on the sea.

An official inquiry, which is being held in private, was opened in Sheerness this morning.

Only 14 of the Bulwark's crew of 700 or 800 men survived.

Thirty bodies from the Bulwark were recovered from the River Thames at Sheerness today. Most of the bodies are mutilated almost beyond identification. Many pathetic scenes were witnessed as relatives gathered in an effort to obtain information.

Houses in towns seven and eight miles from Sheerness were shaken by the explosion and even before men on ships anchored nearby could reach their decks, the Bulwark had disappeared. The neighborhood was strewn with an enormous amount of wreckage, while pieces of the ship were thrown six or seven miles onto the Essex shore. Considering the size of her navy, great Britain has been singularly free from disasters of this character. Nevertheless, when the French warship Jena was destroyed by an internal explosion in 1907 all cordite ammunition was taken from all the British ships and carefully examined. Refrigerators were installed in the ships to keep the powder cool.

The Bulwark, which was one of the older battleships and was completed in 1902, cost $5,000,000.

According to the Standard's parliamentary representative, the theory which found most acceptance in the lobby was that the explosion was an act of treachery. The naval expert of the Morning Post also points out that there are plenty of Germans in the country acting as spies.

Was Loading Ammunition.

It is stated that the Bulwark was loading ammunition at the time of the explosion. The hour was early for such work and no mention of the fate of the ammunition boat is made, hence there is strong ground for the nonacceptance of the consequent theory of an explosion from careless handling of ammunition.

The Chronicle correspondent at Sheerness, describing the disaster, says:

"Lying at her moorings in the harbor, the Bulwark was literally torn to pieces by the internal explosion. A huge flash of flame, then a dense cloud of smoke and the battleship had vanished almost as completely as though she had never existed. The warship sank in less than five minutes.

"Many eye-witnesses have described to me the terrible moment in which the magnificent ship met her doom. Workmen waiting to be relieved after the night shift state they were looking casually at the shipping in the harbor, not observing anything in particular, when a terrific flash shot up into the sky, followed immediately by clouds of smoke.

"For a few minutes this drifted to seaward and to the men's amazement not a vestige of the great battleship remained.

"At once the harbor was in commotion. On all ships the officers and crews rushed on deck, some of them half-stunned by the explosion.

"I am told, indeed, that on some of the vessels near by there was not a piece of glass or crockery left whole, and even the half-inch plateglass in the portholes was shattered. Men on deck were hurled several yards and thrown down. In a very few moments boats were being lowered from the various warships and rescue boats soon steamed up from all directions.

"Eye-witnesses say that the cloud that rose above the pillar of flame was white, such as comes from an explosion of cordite. In such a complete disaster nothing is definitely known here yet as to its immediate cause. There seems no reason to doubt, however, that the ship's forward magazine blew up.

"A member of the crew of the collier lying near the Bulwark gives the following story of the disaster:

"'I was on deck when suddenly I heard a most tremendous explosion, and at the same time saw a sheet of flame shoot up. Then there was a dense volume of black smoke and as that cleared away there was simply nothing—just a gap between the other warships.'"

"Another eye-witness said that after the explosion the ship seemed to split in two, and then keeled over and sank. She disappeared in less than five minutes. A touch of the dramatic was added to the catastrophe by the fact that the band of the Bulwark was playing when the explosion came.

A dispatch from Sheerness says it is believed there that the explosion was caused by the fall and bursting of a 12-inch lyddite shell in her magazine.

A Central News dispatch from Chatham, asserting that the explosion occurred while ammunition was being loaded on the Bulwark, gives rise to a belief in some quarters that the Bulwark was one of the battleships that bombarded the German submarine base at Zeebrugge, Belgium, Monday. The two vessels that took part in the bombardment were described as firing 12-inch guns, which the Bulwark carried, and as having returned to their base to replenish their stores. As far as is known, no other British battleships would have needed a new supply of ammunition, as they have used little so far in the war.

Irishman, Out to See Girl, Warns British of Prussian Guard Attack

LONDON, Nov. 27.

A NEW story of the British encounter with the Prussian Guard was told today by a Corporal of the Warwickshire Regiment, who is now home wounded. He said:

"On the night the guard attacked us around Ypres it was only by the merest chance and a bit of heroism that we were warned in time. There was an Irishman of the King's Liverpool Regiment who had gone out of bounds to meet a girl whose home was off the line of attack.

"Coming home late he stumbled on the Germans stealing quietly toward our position. Without a thought of himself, but only concerned for the safety of his comrades, he dashed toward the spot where he knew our guard to be to give the alarm. The Germans spotted him and a cavalry patrol was at his heels instantly. He had a good start, but toward the end he was hit in both legs. He got through with the warning and is now in the hospital getting well. He doesn't know whether he will get a medal or a "wigging" for being out of bounds, but he's hoping for the best."

BELGIANS' PLIGHT DESPERATE; LACK SUFFICIENT FOOD

Three Thousand Tons of Provisions a Day Needed for 7,000,000 Sufferers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving day found 7,000,000 starving persons in war-swept Belgium crying out for bread and only half enough food on hand to appease their hunger. Three thousand tons of food are required each day to feed the sufferers, yet to date the United States, upon which the Belgians must depend in the main for sustenance, has furnished less than half that amount. Ten ounces a day will save a human being from death by hunger.

The foregoing epitomizes a statement issued by the American Commission for the Relief of the Belgians, carrying appeals for the small quantity of food specified for each inhabitant of the stricken land.

A cable from H. C. Hoover, chairman of the London commission, declared the situation desperate and urged assistance immediately. He said the commission was chartering several ships for dispatch to the Atlantic seaboard, trusting that Americans would fill them with supplies.

The middle states are leading in contributions, the commission says. President Edmund James of the University of Illinois has started a movement to raise $500,000. Each of the 99 counties of Iowa soon will contribute a second carload of flour. Kentucky is giving freely, an example of its charity being shown the other day when J. S. Ellington, a blind and armless soldier, 70 years old of Mayville, contributed 50 cents. In Kansas, 10,000 active workers have been organized to work for the cause in just 10 days.

A shipload of food will start next week from California and another is being loaded in the State of Washington. Salt Lake City has given 10 cars of foodstuffs, which will be sent by way of the west coast.

The South, even though it suffered itself from the war, is helping, too. Alabama will send a shipload of provisions from Mobile about Dec. 15. Flour will be sent in cotton sacks and when the sacks are empty they can be turned into clothing. Virginia is preparing a cargo of 5000 tons for January shipment.

Chicagoans Give on Installment Plan to Aid Belgians.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Contributions totaling $45,121 have been pledged by Chicagoans in an installment relief plan for starving Belgians, it was announced today. Citizens agreed to give a certain sum each month for six months. The amounts pledged are from $5 to $25 monthly.

ENGLAND'S FISCAL CONDITION STRONG, SAYS CHANCELLOR

Lloyd-George Formally Announces War Loan Was Greatly Oversubscribed.

WORLD TRADE PROTECTED

He Tells House of Commons America Owed England $5,000,000,000 at Start of War.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George announced in the House of Commons today that the war loan of £350,000,000 ($1,750,000,000) had been greatly oversubscribed. The Chancellor gave no figures. He said, however, that a feature of the loan was the enormous number of individuals, totalling nearly 100,000 who had made application for small sums. These, the Chancellor declared, would receive the first allotments.

In the course of a statement concerning financial conditions in the country, the Chancellor said the financial deadlock which followed the outbreak of war was due to inability to collect outstanding debts abroad. As an instance, Lloyd-George referred to the United States, which he said, owed Great Britain about $5,000,000,000.

Lloyd-George declared that in assisting commerce the Government had undertaken responsibilities which no Government ever before had been called on to assume.

Cared for World's Trade.

"We had not merely our own business to run," the Chancellor continued, "but we were an essential part of a machine that ran the international trade of the world. We carried half the produce and provided the capital that moved this produce from one part of the world to another, not merely for ourselves but for other countries."

He said all the movements from the cotton plantations to the ultimate destination of the cotton were represened by paper signed either at London, Manchester or Liverpool. When the United States bought cotton or silk or tea in China, payment was made through London by means of these documents. That showed, Lloyd-George said, how complicated the system was. The paper issued in London had become a part of the currency of the world. Into this fine, delicate paper machinery had crashed a great war, affecting two-thirds of the people of the whole world, and confusion was inevitable. It was as if a violent kick had been given to an ant hea pand for a moment there were confusion and panic.

The deadlock which existed, the Chancellor pointed out, was not due to any lack of credit in this country. It was due to the failure of remittances from abroad.

Hypothecated Credit of State.

Lloyd-George told his hearers that the action which the British Government had taken was to save British life, British commerce, British labor and British lives. The Government, he said, had hypothecated the credit of the state in order to restore these exchanges upon which the commerce and industry of the country depended and upon which the whole community depended for their daily life.

By this step, the speakar said, the unimpeachable character of the British bill of exchange had been maintained. It was vital to the good name of this country that this type of British paper, which had become currency for the whole of the trade of the world, should be unimpeachable, and that no one should say hereafter that in a day of crisis it had been dishonored.

One hundred and twenty million pounds sterling (£600,000,000) of bills, Lloyd-George continued, had been discounted by the Bank of England and that showed, he said, that out of a total of between 300,000,000 and 4500,000,000 sterling of bills out at the beginning of the war a greater part was disposed of in the ordinary course. The total amount of bills which had arrived at maturity and for which the Bank of England had found money was £60,386,000. It was estimated that at the end of the war there would be about £50,000,000 of bills in what we would call "cold store" through their belonging to belligerent countries or for other reasons.

There would not be a penny lost to the great accepting houses and the total loss upono the whole of these transactions, he estimated, would not be equal to the cost of a single week of carrying on the war and in addition British commerce and industry would be saved from one of the worst possible catastrophes.

"Position Better Than Any."

The Chancellor laid emphasis on the success of the measures taken to deal with the stock exchange. He said the Government had made it a condition that the exchange could not reopen without the sanction of the treasury. He said the British money market was in a better position now than any money market in the world. The treasury had just floated the largest loan ever raised in the history of the world [illegible] success of this measure, Lloyd-George said, he took as justification of the Government's action. He pointed out that before the loan of £350,000,000 he already had raised £90,000,000 ($450,000,000), for the same purpose, so that virtually he had asked for £440,000,000 ($2,200,000,000).

In spite of the absence of the machinery of the Stock Exchange, which was a serious detriment, the entire loan has been oversubscribed. There were nearly 100,000 applicants and the Government felt it was its duty to give the first allotments to the small applicants, who with the financial houses, had enabled the Government to raise this very large sum of money without any of the expedients to which Germany had to resort to raise a smaller loan at a higher rate of interest.

Turkey to Pay Interest on Loan Only in Constantinople

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 27.—A dispatch from Constantinople says it has been officially announced there by the Minister of Finance that the interest on the loan of 1909 will be paid only to such bondholders as present themselves at the central office of the Ministry of Finance there.

The Constantinople announcement refers to a loan of 159,000,000 francs ($31,800,000) issued at 4 per cent in 1909. Interest is payable semiannually, the next payment being due Dec. 14. The action of the Turkish Finance Minister means that interest payments probably will be suspended on the bulk of these bonds, which are held abroad, as their owners would find it impracticable, or, in view of the war, almost impossible, to go to Constantinople to make collections.

Of this loan $10,000,000 was taken in London by J. S. Morgan & Co., the London house of J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York, and by the Imperial Ottoman Bank of London. Most of the remainder was placed in France, although some of these bonds were marketed in Germany.

British Guns Did Hardly Any Damage at Zeebrugge

BRUGES, Belgium, Nov. 27.—A personal visit to Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast, about 15 miles east of Ostend, shows that, contrary to previous reports, the English bombardment of Nov. 23, did little damage.

The shells from the British ships destroyed two fishermen's houses on one of the dikes. The British threw many shells, which did not explode, into the fields between Heyst and Zeebrugge. They knocked down the chimney of one factory and one person was mortally wounded. The harbor and the locks of Zeebrugge, which are occupied by the Germans, are today all in perfect working order.

Lieut. Hon. E. A. Fitzroy of the First Life Guards, also is among the wounded. He is a member of Parliament.

KILCULLEN A WITNESS IN STORE SALE CASE

Former Deputy Sheriff Says Attorney Told Him to Wait Before Making Returns.

Thomas B. Kilcullin, former chief execution deputy in the Sheriff's office at the Courthouse, whose conduct in office has been the subject of a grand jury investigation, was a witness in Circuit Judge Grimm's Court today in reference to the sale by the Sheriff of a grocery belonging to Alexander McCabe at 799 Bayard avenue, Dec. 26 last. The sale was on a levy in favor of Mrs. Mary E. McCabe ono an unpaid alimony judgment.

No return of the sale was made in court. A few days ago Mrs. McCabe got judgment against the Sheriff for $635. Qilcullin, who was summoned by the Sheriff, testified that he sold the property for $550 but did not make a return because Mrs. McCabe's lawyer had instructed him to wait until a third party claim as to ownership of the grocery had been determined.

He saaid that $85, alleged to have been the receipts of the grocery between the time the levy was made and the sale of the property did not get into his possession.

Kilcullin was not asked what he did with the $550. Joseph Dickmann Jr., who succeeded Kilcullin as execution deputy last July, testified that after diligent search he could not find a record of any return in the office. He also said he could not find a record of money being received in the case by the Sheriff's office.

INDIANA MAN ACQUITTED OF POISONING HIS WIFE

Judge Orders Verdict for Defendant Who Married Again in Eleven Days.

CONNERSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 27.—Ivy L. Reynolds was acquitted today of the murder of his wife on Feb. 16 last, by poisoning, after Judge Gray had reversed a previous decision and instructed the jury to find the defendant guilty.

Judge Gray last Wednesday overruled a motion of the defense to order the acquittal of Reynolds, but today announced he had looked further into the evidence and had decided that a case against the defendant had not been established.

The State made much of the fact that Reynolds had married Miss Dora Gerber of Morencie, Mich., 11 days after the death of his first wife.

German Reserves, Mostly Men of 40, Called Out

GENEVA, via Paris, Nov. 27.—Seven thousand refugees, mostly members of wealthy German families in Breslau, have arrived in Munich in the last 48 hours. They declare the city is in a state of consternation owing to the reported approach of the Russians, and that business is at a standstill.

In the Duchy of Baden the reservists of the years 1891-1894, now mostly men of 40 to 45 years of age, have been called out. These reservists, who are stated to number about 350,000, are being distributed in the forts along the Rhine to liberate the younger men there for active service.

Germany continues to send naval and military officers to Constantinople. Twenty-eight of them passed through Innsbruck yesterday, coming from Munich.

German Clergymen Angry Because They Can't Fight

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 27.—The Evangelical clergymen of Berlin and its suburbs have signed a declaration protesting against the military decree which says that student clergymen, clergymen ordained or clergymen who have been pensioned may not be called to arms.

The clergymen declare this decree cannot be justified and is an insult to them. All other classes and professions have the honor of being able to fight for their country with arms and they would do likewise. They are going to petition the Reichstag to abolish this decree.

WOMAN WINS SUIT OVER CALF THAT IS NOW A COW

Mrs. Helen Mead Awarded Animal Worth $60; Costs of Case $300.

After being drawn out as long as "the tune the old cow died on," a suit for a cow that was a calf when the litigation started has been decided in favor of Mrs. Helen Meade of Oakville by a jury in Judge McElhinney's court at Clayton.

The verdict was based on the identification of the cow's tail, but the defendant, Henry Wehmeyer of Mattese, says the end is not yet. The cow is valued at $60, but costs in the case thus far amount to $300 and Wehmeyer has filed notice of an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

The way the hair grows on a cow's tail, the efficacy of four-leaf clovers in bringing good luck, and whether a cow can be recognized by its features were some of the interesting points on which testimony was given at the trial.

Bought Calf Out of Sympathy.

Mrs. Meade testified that in March, 1911, she bought a 6-weeks-old Jersey calf from Maj. Howard, U. S. A., at Jefferson Barracks. She made the purchase out of sympathy, she said, because she learned the calf was about to be taken to a slaughter house.

In the summer of 1912 she put the calf out to pasture on August Kassebaum's pasture at Mattese. There were 18 other boarders on the pasture. Kassebaum in August, 1912, notified the owners of these animals that the drouth had killed the grass and advised them to remove their cows and calves from the pasture.

Mrs. Meade testified she was the last owner to arrive and she found in the pasture only one half-grown calf without horns. Hers, she said, had beautiful curling horns.

Mrs. Meade told of a 10-months' search for her calf and said she "walked more than 60 miles hunting for it."

Cow Had Two Calves.

One day while walking through a meadow near the Ringer road she found three four-leaf clovers. This was in July, 1913. The calf for which she had been searching had meanwhile become a cow. Mrs. Meade testified she accepted the finding of the four-leaf clovers as a sure sign she was on the track of her long-lost Jersey. A mile further on, she said, she saw her cow in Wehmeyer's pasture.

Edwin W. Mills, attorney for Wehmeyer, asked Mrs. Meade how it was she didn't find three cows, if each of the three four-leaf clovers was lucky.

"I did," said Mrs. Meade. "When I found my cow she had two calves."

Despite other identification marks, the conformation of a cow's tail was the point on which the final identification hinged.

Had Lock of Hair From Tail.

Mrs. Meade introduced in evidence a lock of hair which she had cut from her calf's tail when she first bought it. She introduced expert witnesses who testified that the hair at the end of a cow's tail grows in separate tufts, like the bristles in a blacking brush, and that if one of these tufts is cut off it never grows back. There also was testimony that there was bare spot on the tail of the cow claimed by Mrs. Meade.

To offset this evidence Attorney Edward E. Goebel, of counsel for Wehmeyer produced in court a cow's tail. He wanted to introduce it in evidence and pass it among the jurors, but Judge McElhiney would not permit this on the ground that the tail was not the one which grew on Mrs. Meade's cow, and therefore was not germane to the subject.

Recognized by Features.

Waiving the cow's tail as a point of identification, Mrs. Meade said she could recognize her cow by its features. It had the most sympathetic face she ever saw on a cow. This opened the way for a new line of expert testimony. Men and women, who know a cow when they see one, were put on the stand to testify as to wether a cow could be recognized by its features. Some said it could and some said it couldn't.

The jury in its verdict gave Mrs. Meade the option of taking the cow or $80 in cash from Wehmeyer. It also awarded to her $100 damages because of testimony that while in Wehmeyer's possession the cow has had two calves and has produced an average of two gallons of milk a day. She decided to take the cow rather than the $80.

The horniess cow which Mrs. Meade refused to accept is still on Kassebaum's farm. He recently sent to Mrs. Meade a bill for $36 for pasturage for a year. She refused to pay it.

Kassebaum asserts that this cow is Mrs. Meade's and says he will continue to send bills to her and possibly file suit if she refuses to pay for its board.

MASKED PAIR GO UP 19 FLOORS TO ROB PRESS CLUB OF $19

Former Employe Held After Post-Thanksgiving Visit of "Short and Long" Team.

The traditional "tall and short man" this morning dropped in for a little post-Thanksgiving visit to the gentlemen who made them famous. Finding no one but the help to receive them at the Press Club quarters on the nineteenth floor of the Railway Exchange Building they helped themselves to $19.05 from the cigar box used as a safe in the kitchen.

Only a janitor, a cook and a waiter were on hand to report the robbery. According to their stories each robber wore a black mask across the upper part of his face and carried one of the latest model 42-centimeter Krupp siege guns in his right hand.

The men entered the building about 5 a. m.

The robbers, masked and carrying their "Busy Berthas," stepped in and one said to Joe Arolo, the janitor: "Where are the fellows?" Arolo pointed to the kitchen with his mop.

"Bring 'em out here," said the tall robber.

Arolo went to the kitchen and found the cook and a waiter asleep in chairs. He poked them in the ribs with his mop stick and told them a couple of robbers wanted to see them quick.

The robbers went into the kitchen and forced the employes to reveal the whereabouts of the available cash. The waiter afterward phoned the club's manager, telling him he thought he recognized the voice and the tan shoes with cloth tops worn by the tall robber. On information which he gave, policemen went to room 816 at the Oxford Hotel, 706 Pine street, and arrested Frank Kennedy, who was discharged as a Press Club waiter Nov. 16.

Kennedy was covered up in bed and apparently asleep. When the policemen routed him out they found he was wearing all of his clothing except shoes, coat and hat. Under the bed was a pair of tan shoes with cloth tops. The elevator operator identified Kennedy as the taller of two men who rode with him just before the robbery.

POLICE REPORT OF $412 HOLDUP THREE DAYS LATE

Details Finally Are Obtained and Detectives Are Assigned to Case.

For thoroughness in gathering details of a robbery the work of the Carr Street District in the case of W. C. Meyer, a druggist at 1900 O'Fallon street has never been excelled. It required three days to make the report to headquarters during which time the robbers were increasing the distance between them and the police.

Capt. Schoppe learned Wednesday morning that Meyer was robbed Tuesday night and sent a patrolman to get a report. Meyer had left the city on business and his clerk gave the policeman the facts surrounding the robbery as they had been related to him by his employer.

Capt. Schoppe decided the clerk's report was not sufficient and so waited until yesterday when Meyer returned. The Captain wanted his special officers to hear from Meyer's own lips the complete details of the robbery.

The specials made several trips to the drug store yesterday and finally met Meyer. He told them three young men entered his store about 10:20 p. m., Tuesday and asked for a dime's worth of something. While he was serving them they drew revolvers and ordered him to throw up his hands. Then they took $61.40 from the cash drawer and Meyer's diamond stud and two diamond rings, all valued at $412.

This morning the belated report reached headquarters and detectives were assigned to catch the robbers.

WEAKENED RACE MAY SPRING UP

Scientists Fear Children of the Future Will Show Traces of Nervous Affections.

"The greatest German authorities are unanimous in stating that the children of the future will in all probability show a great tendency to nervous affections, hysteria, epilepsy and various other mental disturbances if the rapid growth of nervous trouble is not checked.

"One of the commonest and at the same time most dangerous symptoms of nervous trouble is the fact that it robs its victim of refreshing sleep. Such a sufferer will go to bed tired out in the evening after a hard day of physical and mental exertion, and while every cell in the body is craving rest the over-exerted brain loses control of the body, and even when sleep does come it is broken and restless."

"Sufficient sleep is absolutely indispensible to all. It is even more essential to healthy life than food or water. In cases of nervous debility sleep is often either absent or too heavy. All symptoms of depression, that tired feeling, morbid imagination, dizziness, nervousness, headaches or that rundown feeling are signs of nervous trouble, which is being relieved in thousands of cases every day by the new national tonic, Tona Vita."

Who Will Dress a Doll

For the Poor Children's Christmas Tree?

THE Post-Dispatch has bought a quantity of undressed dolls to be given to girl guests of the Christmas Festival at the Coliseum on Christmas Day. The dolls are 12 inches long, are jointed, have bisque heads, eyes that open and shut, brown or blonde hair, pink or blue kid shoes.

We want volunteers to dress these dolls, as every woman knows the clothes are as necessary to the gift as the doll body. If YOU will dress a doll, write your name and address below and send it to the DOLL DEPARTMENT, POST-DISPATCH. Presidents or secretaries of organizations may obtain a number of dolls for their members to dress.

Five prizes, each of Five Dollars in Gold, will be given for the best dressed dolls.

of her ancestors is not lost in this cultured woman for, when she begins speaking of camp craft, one is immediately impressed by the intimate knowledge of and the inspiration that she calls forth from the almost forgotten methods by which primitive American men and women won their existence from nature.

During the past year she has done considerable studio work and has continued the culture of her voice. Her work is characteristic Indian interpretation in reading, singing and dancing. She has appeared in this role in exclusive circles in New York and won much praise.

Uncle Wires: "I'll Be There."

A few days ago Hastings was at his home in Tahlequah when his stenographer handed to him a registered letter from New York. It was from Miss Edmondson and told that she was to be married on Thanksgiving day to Croker. The letter said it was her wish that Hastings come to New York and as godfather give her away at the wedding. Hastings, after reading the letter a second time wired: "I'll be there."

She instructed him that the wedding was to be a secret, the announcement to be made only after the bride and bridegroom were on their honeymoon.

The newly elected Oklahoma Congressman wired his tailor in Washington to make for him the clothing required. Another telegram was sent to his daughter Ahnawake, attending school in Washington, to see that the tailor proceeded with the work on his outfit and to prepare herself for attendance at a wedding in New York on Thanksgiving day.

Croker's Cherokee Bride Says She Has Won "The Chief of Men."

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Richard W. Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall, and Miss Beulah Benton Edmondson, a member of the Cherokee Indian tribe, who were married here yesterday, have gone to the Croker estate near Palm Beach, Fla., for their honeymoon. He is 73 years old. Her age was given here as 23, but from Oklahoma it is stated that she is 30.

The wedding took place at the home of Nathan Strauss, an old friend of Croker's. The street in front of the Strauss home was crowded with men and women. Only about 25 guests were invited to the wedding.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Congressman-elect W. W. Hastings of Oklahoma. The bridemaids were Miss Frances Fite, a senior at Vassar from Muskogee, Ok.; Miss Ethel Brown of Dayton, O., and Miss Willia Townsend of Memphis, Tenn. Monsignor Henry A. Brann, rector of St. Agnes Church, performed the ceremony. Croker was attended by Thomas F. Smith who has been secretary of Tammany Hall for years. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a pearl collar.

Statement of Her History.

A typewritten statement given out by the bride after the ceremony made clear a good deal of her life history. Some reports before the marriage expressed doubt that she really was descended from the Indians, pointing out that she was blonde and very fair.

Her statement says she is known as Princess Sequoyah or Ketaw Kaluntuchy, among her tribe. Her father, the statment continues, was Michael Smith Edmondson, a descendant of Roger de Montgomery, who was in the war of the northern army at the battle of Hastings, and her mother was Galela Welch, who descended from the famous Chief Sequoyah, inventor of the Cherokee alphabet.

Inspired by Pocahontas.

Croker first saw the girl who became his bride in Kansas City when she was nine years old, according to the statement, and he later became interested in her zeal to make her people better understood. Miss Edmondson got inspiration for her work from Pocahontas and other Indian girls, she said. She told it thus:

"I have been inspired by the example of Pocahontas, who did so much to make the English people understand our race. Then there was Sacawagea, the 'bird woman,' who piloted the Lewis and Clark expedition 5000 miles and made it a success. On the way back, in crossing the Missouri, her husband, a renegade Frenchman, upset the canoe, carrying the records of the expedition. She dived again and again until she saved all the valuable papers and trophies. I also find inspiration in Talabina, the Cherokee maiden who helped Sam Houston to free Texas."

And then she turned to Croker, who long was known as the "Chief" of Tammany Hall, and remarked:

"But it is the dearest ambition of every Indian girl to win a chief, and I have won the chief of men."

In April the couple will go to the bridegroom's home in Ireland, where he has resided for many years since his retirement from political life in New York.

LETTERS CAUSE ARREST

Man Accused of Asking Woman for Money for Return of Son.

The police yesterday arrested a laborer, who, another man said, had been writing letters to Mrs. Minnie Silverman of 2103 Market street, demanding money for the return of her 14-year-old son, Jacob, who disappeared from home on Sept. 14.

The man denied the charge. The matter was placed in the hands of the Federal authorities.

MAN SHOOTS HIS BROTHER WHEN HE WRECKS KITCHEN

Robert Stibal Says Louis Was Angry When He Couldn't Find Any Thanksgiving "Eats."

Louis Stibal, 30 years old, of 341 Louisa avenue, Luxenberg, a carpenter, was shot twice near the heart at midnight last night by his brother, Robert, 21 years old, after he had started to wreck his mother's kitchen because there was not any Thanksgiving food to be found at that hour. The wounds were made with a .22-caliber rifle. Stibal's condition is considered critical.

Robert Stibal was arrested at his home and placed in jail at Clayton, charged with felonious assault. He was denied bond pending the outcome of his brother's wounds.

On the way to jail Robert told Constable George Bobring the circumstances which led to the shooting. He said he and his brother had returned from a neighboring saloon and that Louis went to the icebox to look for "good eats." Finding there was none, he became angry and hurled kitchen utensils through three kitchen windows, breaking the panes. Then he declared a boarder in the house was getting all the good things to eat and he was going to throw him out.

Mrs. Anna Stibal, his mother, was awakened by the breaking of the windows and went downstairs in an effort to quiet her son. Robert said Louis cursed her and then announced he was going upstairs to tell the boarder to "pack up."

Robert was standing in the hallway, between the kitchen and the stairs. As his brother advanced he picked up the rifle, which had been in a corner in the hallway, and fired twice. He said he regretted the shooting, but declared something had to be done to force his brother to cease abusing the family.

When the Constable arrived, Louis refused to say anything at first, but as he was being carried out to the ambulance, he said:

"Don't blame the kid—it was an accident."

Man Held for Thefts From Auto.

Frank Miller, 53 years old, of 519 Walnut street, was arrested last night, charged with taking a laprobe from the automobile of Mrs. Mary Tighe, 5003 Vernon avenue, and an inner tube from the car of George Durnille, 3418A Juniata street, while the machines were in front of a theater at Sixth and Walnut streets.

"Ah! Campbell's Tomato Soup hot!"

"What a fine change from the regulation program."

"Better than tea or coffee, I say."

"Yes. The best kind of a bracer, too."

And it goes just as "good" with a motoring-coat as it does with a dinner-coat.

In short there's no finer appetizer for any occasion. Suitable not only for the most formal indoor affairs, this perfect soup also makes a delightful variation in the ordinary "outing" menu.

Put it to the test yourself.

H. M. COUDREY HELD IN NEW YORK ON LARCENY CHARGE

Former St. Louis Congressman Accused of Withholding $3750 From a Customer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Harry M. Coudrey, former Congressman from St. Louis, is to be arraigned before Judge Mulqueen in the Court of General Sessions today, on a warrant charging him with larceny of $3750. He was a prisoner in the Tombs last night, following his arrest yesterday. He was unable to give bond.

The complainant is Francis H. Ross of 100 William street, who alleges that on Dec. 1, 1909, he gave Coudrey a check for $3750 to buy stock in the International Fire Insurance Company of America and that he withheld the money.

Coudrey is an insurance broker, with offices at 1482 Broadway. He lives at 48 West Thirty-second street.

Coudrey at Liberty Pending Appeal From 4½-Year Sentence Here.

Harry M. Coudrey and Harry B. Gardner were convicted in the St. Louis Federal Court two years ago on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the promotion of the Continental Assurance Co. of America and the International Fire Insurance Co. They were sentenced to serve 4½ years each in the penitentiary. Their appeal is still pending.

FEDERAL INQUIRY ON IN ARKANSAS MINE STRIKE

Labor Department Official Confers With Special Agents in Hartford Valley.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 27.—The work of the special investigation of the Hartford Valley mining troubles by Ethelbert Stewart of the Department of Labor started today. After a talk with Roger B. Hull, special assistant to the Attorney-General, Stewart had a conference with Billups Harris, special agent of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, with the result that Harris will remain here a few days longer to assist Stewart.

Cases arising from the mining controversy will come up in the Federal Court at the regular term in January. Petitions already have been circulated, it is said, looking to the substitution of another Judge for Judge Frank Youmans.

Quiet prevailed in the mining regions yesterday.

50 Robberies a Day in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Fifty robberies are committed in Chicago every day, of which probably 25 are "gun jobs," according to a statement today by James Glenson, Superintendent of Police, who announced that he would ask for 1500 more men to police the city.

SOUTH AMERICA WOULD DRIVE WAR FROM ITS WATERS

U. S. Co-operation Asked in Obtaining Agreement to Exclude Belligerents' Fighters.

WILSON TO TAKE UP PLAN

Some European Nations Favorable to Scheme to Permit Free Coastwise Trade.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Determined to reduce the effects of the European war on the trade of Pan-American countries, the principal nations of South America are endeavoring, it was disclosed today, to obtain the co-operation of the United States in a movement that would bring about an agreement with the belligerent Powers of Europe to withdraw their warships from the neutral waters of the two Americas.

Extension of the territorial waters of a neutral country from the present limit of three miles to much larger limits that would permit an unmolested coastwise trade between the two Americas, the calling of a general conference of diplomatic representatives of the 21 republics of this hemisphere and prohibitions which would make it impossible for warships to sustain themselves with coal or supplies in neutral waters are among the suggestions which have been formally communicated to the United States Government for consideration.

Conference at Washington.

Argentina, Chile, Brazil, Peru and Uruguay have taken an active part in the negotiations. President Wilson and Secretary Bryan will confer on the subject when the former returns from Williamstown, Mass., and in the interval South American diplomats were busy today discussing with each other the various suggestions advanced by their Governments.

None of the nations has gone beyond sounding out the European belligerents informally and some of the latter have expressed a favorable interest.

High officials of the American Government have had some preliminary discussions with South American diplomats on these proposals. Any arrangement that would be sought would, of course, be dependent upon the final agreement of the belligerents. It is understood that while the American Government is hesitant about taking the initiative, the South American countries have paved the way by their various suggestions, so that whatever action is taken will be of a united and collective character.

Some of the South American countries feel that as Europe has disrupted the trade of neutrals, the latter should more vigorously assert their rights. The chief trouble with South American trade is the lack of ships to carry cargoes and the insecurity of such trade as is carried in merchant vessels flying the flags of belligerents.

The presence of a German fleet in South American waters has held back many British merchantmen, while German steamers by the score are lying idle in South American ports.

Would Release Steamers.

While none of the remedial proposals suggest whether some of the big freighters flying belligerent flags would be released for coastwise trade within certain neutral zones, it is known that the South American countries would welcome an arrangement between the belligerents whereby some of those vessels would be permitted to engage in coastwise trade.

Not alone, however, with the idea of restoring the trade paralyzed by the war, but also with the purpose of removing possible causes of friction and neutrality controversies with European belligerents have the various suggestions for joint action with the United States been advanced.

The South American countries also would prefer that the belligerents' navies fight their battles in another hemisphere, the tangles over the use of the wireless and coaling privileges having produced complications with Europe.

Although both Equador and Colombia say they now have taken measures which satisfy Great Britain and France of their neutrality, Chile's declaration that German ships have violated her neutrality has interjected another difficulty.

Ten Thousand Fowl Falling Under the Ax at Remley's.

What is considered one of the largest, if not the largest, single purchase of fowl in St. Louis is claimed by David Remley, head of the Remley store, Sixth street and Franklin avenue, and beginning Saturday these birds will be put on sale at cut prices for 10 days. The fowl include chickens of every description, turkeys, ducks, geese, pigeons, guinea hens, etc., to the number of 10,000 or so. Three thousand of these feathered delicacies are alive in the cellar of the Remley store and the rest of the live ones are in a lot 130x100 at Sarah street and Evans avenue, where crowds of persons on foot and in autos watch them by the hour. Remley declares that the whole purchase of the birds, all alive, were made by himself. The flocks were brought from all parts of Illinois and Missouri. Just as fast as a corps of expert butchers can work the birds are prepared for the table. The slaughter will be kept up for the 10 days during the sale at the Remley store.

Falls From Window While Sleeping.

Joseph Lenkovic, 30 years old, fell from a second-story window in the home of Frank Kroupa, 1831 South Twelfth street, at 3:30 o'clock this morning. He said he was dreaming when he fell. He was taken to the city hospital where it was found he suffered minor injuries.

GEN. VILLA SENDS OFFICERS TO LEARN ZAPATA'S ATTITUDE

Northern Leader Near Capital and Tries to Arrange for Entry With Cutierrez.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 27.—Gen. Villa, almost on the outskirts of Mexico City, felt out the ground before him today carefully to learn whether peace or war may be expected from Zapata, the revolutionary chieftain who now controls the capital. Villa sent from Tula, his present headquarters, 50 miles north, a delegation of officers to call on Zapata and arrange for the entry of Provisional President Gutierrez and Cabinet and Villa's army. Gen. Gutierres and his Cabinet joined Villa at Tula today.

Just where Zapata was to be found was not known.

Advices from Tula do not seem to anticipate fighting between Villa and Zapata for possession of the capital.

Carranza Reaches Vera Cruz and Is Warmly Greeted.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 27.—Gen. Carranza reached here late yesterday from Cordoba. Thousands of citizens greeted him in the streets, and he was cheered when he spoke from the balcony of the municipal palace. He made the trip to Vera Cruz in the presidential train, the gayly painted equipment of which was made famous by Porfirio Diaz.

More U. S. Troops Reach Galveston From Vera Cruz.

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 27.—The army transport Sumner, bearing a part of the expeditionary force that has occupied Vera Cruz for seven months, arrived here today. Brigadier-General Funston, with the main body of the troops, arrived yesterday.

Dispatch From Madrid Says Spaniards Were Killed in Mexico City.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Spanish Ambassador Riano received official dispatches from Madrid today saying several Spaniards had been killed and their homes had been pillaged, when the Zapata forces entered Mexico City.

Riano had no original advices on the subject from Mexico City, and Secretary Bryan, upon whom he called for information, had none. It was assumed that the Spanish Minister in Mexico reported to the Madrid Foreign Office.

LOGGING ROAD IS SOLD

Judges Dyer and Adams in the United States District Court today approved the sale for $60,000 of the Williamsville, Greenville & St. Louis Railroad by the receiver, Robert E. Slowey, to James K. Cochrane of Kansas City. The sum of $50,400 is to be paid in cash and the remainder is in the form of liabilities assumed.

This road is operated in Wayne County. It was built for logging purposes and went into the hands of a receiver when the industry began to wane in its district. The road has a St. Louis connection through the Frisco.

WAR IS BREAKING CASTE BARRIERS IN GERMAN ARMY

Not Rare Now to See Officer and Private Walking Together in Berlin.

PRIVATE MADE OFFICER

Mortality Among Commanders Great—No Boycott Yet of Allies' Wares.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—One of the most interesting, and, to a good American, gratifying features of the war is the apparent democratizing effect on Germany which it already seems to be having, with the possibility of far-reaching results in recasting the whole caste system if it lasts long enough.

To one who knew the peace-time gulf that divided the officer caste from the rank and file it came as a distinct shock to see an officer and a private walking down the Friedrichstrasse together—not such a rare sight now—or a party of officers and non-coms taxicabing in Unter den Linden.

One notices, too, that young Lieutenants have shed their—to Americans—seeming snobbing manner along with their full-dress uniforms, and that officers, even crusty Colonels and imposing looking Generals, now unbend and return the salutes of their inferiors with a new spirit of cordiality.

In the field the change of heart that has come over German militarism is even more striking. Men returning from the front—forgetting the bullying disciplinarian of peace days, speak affectionately of their fallen officers, and in some cases with surprising familiarity.

Has Had Seven Commanders.

One good reason for the change was given by a wounded Sergeant who remarked: "Our company has had seven commanders since the war started. I led it for awhile." Signs are not wanting that the common people are coming into their own—even in the army—in the not distant future if the casualty lists continue with the same ratio of officers to men.

A wounded Major of a Bavarian Guard regiment said: "My whole circle of friends has been wiped out." A study of the casualty lists of, say, the crack Prussian cavalry regiments of the Guard, shows how the flower of German military aristocracy has fallen and is still passing. Every other one is a Count or better; all are socially "glitedred" names.

That the Cadet Corps has been pretty well drained of potential officers is indicated by an item in the Breslauer Zeitung, chronicling the fact that one Werner Rubaschok, a youth of 15 years and 3 months, has been made an officer on the battlefields of Belgium, thus becoming the youngest Lieutenant. He came from the Cadet Corps.

The problem, however, is not to find competent officers—for from first hand accounts the under officers made excellent company leaders in the field—but to keep the patrician officer caste from being hopelessly diluted by the admixture of this plebeian element.

So far the dilemma has been temporarily solved by calling the men from the ranks who have taken the places of fallen Captains and Lieutenants, substitute officers (officer stellvertreter).

To prevent misunderstandings, a general army order was issued that these "substitute officers" should enjoy the same precedence and were to be saluted as full-fledged officers. That they are still "rankers," however, is indicated by the fact that they must continue to wear the sword belt on the outside of their coat and not under it, as in the case of other officers.

Private Made Officer.

Already, however, exceptional cases are recorded in which these "substitutes" of plebeian extraction have been promoted to the full rank for distinguished bravery, the Iron Cross helping to bridge the gulf of caste, and one case is on record of a mere private in the ranks, a musketeer, being made a Lieutenant inside of six weeks, having won the second, then the first class of the Iron Cross.

The end of the third month of war sees a still united Germany, now thoroughly realizing that it is in for a hard fight, but undiscouraged and confident of winning in the end, though "it can last a long while yet," as many soldiers returning from the front have said. They reflect the general opinion. A long war is now taken for granted, and there is no longer any attempt even in print, to underrate their opponents' strength. The perfect team work of the German people is impressive, and one is inclined to believe those who tell him that all classes, including the Socialists, are squarely behind the Kaiser in the war, while such phases as "to the last drop of blood" do not sound so much like mere rhetoric as they once did.

One gets an overwhelming impression here that all the people are filled with a commonplace purpose, and that the whole nation is a smooth-running, efficient fighting machine for what its individuals, apparently honestly believe, their self-preservation; also that the "machine" will "take a lot of stopping."

Cost in Lives Enormous.

The heavy price of the war in blood, however, becomes more obvious every day in the increasing signs of mourning. Black gowns and crape veils seem likely to be the prevailing fashion for half the women in Germany this winter, and even more next spring. The large percentage of women in mourning is especially noticeable not in Berlin, but such cities as Munich, Magdeburg, Dresden and Cologne.

In the street cars, shops, restaurants, even theaters—black everywhere. The wearers, with a curious stoicism, look as if they regarded their crape as a badge of distinction, seemingly proud of the fact that son or husband or brother has "died the hero's death for the Fatherland," as the curious large-type, two-inch display advertisements, which are now full page—and sometimes two and three page—feature of all German newspapers, quaintly phrase it.

To one who has been in both London and Berlin since the war started an interesting contrast in national temperaments and methods is offered by the fact that in Germany there is no organized or unorganized counterpart to the "war on Germany's trade" movement in England, nor is the German press pushing any propaganda to induce the public to boycott the goods of the enemy's manufacture.

For example, Russian cigarettes and well-known English brands are still freely sold here, and while London put a ban on Pilsener and Munich beer simultaneously with the declaration of war, even German officers continue to act on the theory that discretion is the better part of patriotism and continue to call for French brands of champagne in preference to the indifferent native product.

Bordeaux and burgundies have not been stricken from the wine lists, and even the Crown Prince issued an appeal to the public to send their "loved ones" in the field such un-Germanic beverages as rum and cognac. Incidentally the Crown Prince's appeal caused something of a teapot tempest in German temperance circles and occasioned the nearest approach to criticism since the war has been in progress. It took the form of a letter from the distinguished and many-titled head of the United German Temperance Societies to the Crown Prince asking if the printed reports were true that he had solicited shipments of "alcoholic beverages" to the troops in the field.

This drew a reply from His Imperial Highness that the report was true, but that the "alcoholic beverages" were wanted not for their pleasurable effect, but for their medicinal value in cases of colds and other ailments incident to life in the rain-soaked trenches.

ARRESTED AFTER CRASH

Teamster Had Taken Another's Buggy to Give Girls a Drive.

Arthur Batman, a teamster, 22 years old, living at 1321 Dillon street, was arrested last night following a collision between a buggy in which he and two girls were riding and a buggy driven by Charles F. Lauth of 1208 North Fifteenth street at Nineteenth and Wright streets. Both buggies were overturned. The girls hastened away on a Lee avenue car. Batman said he did not know them. He is married.

The buggy he was driving was identified as the property of Dr. Rolla Henry of the Health Department, which had been stolen from in front of 1208 Dillon street. Batman admitted driving it away.

TURKS FIRED TO WARN TENNESSEE LAUNCH OF MINES

Commander at Smyrna Says Helmsman of Boat Was Indifferent—Incident Closed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The Turkish commander of the forts at Smyrna lays all responsibility for the firing on the cruiser Tennessee's launch "to the indifference of the helmsman of the launch," who, it is said, did not heed warnings of the presence of mines.

Secretary Bryan today issued a supplemental statement on the Tennessee incident, based on the latest communication from the Turkish Minister of War to Ambassador Morgenthau in Constantinople.

"The War Minister's report," said the statement, "states that he ascertained from the commander of Smyrna that two blank shots of warning were first fired and that the sentinel, after waiting two minutes, was obliged to fire the third shot in another direction from that of the launch, which latter shot was merely to prevent the helmsman of the launch from holding his course, which would lead directly onto the mines at the entrance of the port, and to rescue him from a very certain danger. The commander of Smyrna expresses very great regret that such an obligation was presented to the sentinel of the port, which he attributed to the indifference of the helsman of the launch."

Secretary Bryan said this latest report closes the incident.

$4000 STOLEN FROM HIS HOME, MAN TELLS POLICE

George E. Freebersyser Says Money Was Taken While Family Was at Picture Show.

George E. Freebersyser, a carpenter and builder, living at 2153 East College avenue, reported to the police that while he and his family were attending a picture show last night burglars got into his house and stole $4000 from a wardrobe drawer.

Freebersyser said the robbers evidently used a duplicate key to get into the house. He said he was the only person who knew where the money was hidden. He kept it in the house, he said, because he had a personal reason for not placing it in the bank. He said he was to meet certain debts today and kept the money handy for that purpose.

SWISS CHEESE CAN BE MADE IN U. S. MINUS THE HOLES

Cleveland Dealers Deny Possibility of Competing With Foreign Brands.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 27.—The recent issue of a Government bulletin urging American manufacturers to take advantage of the European war by building up a large business in American-made cheeses, which the bulletin says can be made to equal the foreign cheeses, has caused Cleveland dealers to deny the possibility of competing successfully with the foreign brands.

Milk, Cleveland dealers declared, is only one of many items necessary before America can compete with Europe in the manufacture of fancy cheeses. Atmospheric conditions and secrets of manufacture, they said, cannot be duplicated.

"It is true," said E. A. Fischer, president of the Boehmke Co., "that American limburger outclasses the imported article. The finest limburger in the world is made in New York State. The best domestic Swiss cheese is made in Ohio, but it has not the qualities of the imported cheese. America can duplicate Swiss cheese, but it cannot duplicate the holes. America, also, makes a good Brie cheese, which almost equals imported Camembert, and, in addition to limburger, New York State makes a good imitation of Cheddar.

"Roquefort, Camembert, Edam, Gorgonzola and numerous other kinds cannot be made in America. To make them would cost as much as the imported. A week after the European war broke out the makers raised the price of domestic Swiss cheese higher than that we had to pay for the imported article."

The same opinion was expressed by F. O. Ross, manager of the American Butter and Cheese Co.

"Particularly in the case of Roquefort," said Ross, "European makers have nothing to fear from America. Roquefort is made in caves in Roquefort, France. Atmospheric conditions in those caves cannot be duplicated."

ENGLAND BUILDING CRAFT TO DESTROY UNDER-SEA WASPS

French Also Work Night and Day on Submarines to Fight On or Under the Surface.

TO HAVE DIESEL ENGINE

Invention to Be Employed Against Its Inventors; U. S. Plans Same Kind of Craft.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Out of the dearly bought lessons of naval warfare in the North Sea, a new engine of destruction is coming—the submarine destroyer. Larger, more powerful and with a greater radius of operations than any of its predecessors, this new wasp of the sea will not only be equipped to sting its giant adversaries, but to destroy its own kind on the surface of the sea.

British and French navy yards, and private ship yards as well, are working night and day to have the new submarine destroyers in service within the next few months. This information coming to United States naval officers commands greater interest because the United States navy, too, is to have some of these newest ships of war. Its experts have been at work upon plans for them for months.

The theory on which the new sea fighters are being built is that they shall be armed for battle either on the surface or below. They will be of much greater tonnage than existing submarines. Tentative plans have been made for boats of 1000 tons, submerged, which would permit fuel capacity to cross oceans with battle fleets and allow adequate provision for crew quarters. The close attendance of a parent ship upon submarine fleets would then be unnecessary.

Quick-Fire 6-Pounder Guns.

The underwater armament will consist of torpedo tubes, as in present submarines, but more tubes and a greater supply of the projectiles employed with such terrible effect in the European war. For surface fighting against hostile submarines the new warships will carry small guns, mounted in watertight compartments and placed on elevators to lift them to the upper deck of the ships as they ride a foot or two out of the water. A quick-fire six-pounder probably will be the largest weapon that can be employed for that purpose because greater weight, set high above a vessel's center of gravity, would tend to render her top-heavy.

Beneath the surface the new destroyers are expected to operate as ordinary 200-ton vessels of their type, except that they will have greater cruising range. On the surface they will scout for hostile submarines, spot an enemy's periscope, then swing up the six-pounders to open fire, relying on greater speed to keep in range and upon the fact that six-pounder projectiles will pierce the thin skin of the hostile craft. One such wound would easily cripple an enemy, even if no vital part of his mechanism were struck. The puncture would sink him if he attempted to submerge and so he would be compelled to lie on the surface at the mercy of the destroyer's guns.

Diesel Engine Equipment.

The equipment of the new British fighters is understood to be similar to that contemplated for American craft, Diesel crude oil engines to drive the propellers for surface cruising and to operate dynamos to keep storage batteries constantly at standard strength for under-water work when the ship is driven by electricity. The German engine, now to be employed against its inventors, offers the highest fuel economic power generation yet achieved and on its small fuel consumption depends the greatly increased cruising radius of the new ships.

American naval engineers are considering the application of Diesel engines to warships in another connection. The result may be the complete revolution of the power equipment of the coming super-dreadnoughts. Experiments have been made successfully with the new collier Jupiter in getting greater efficiency out of steam turbines by using them to drive dynamos and using electricity thus generated to propel the ship. The theory is that by operating the turbines at higher speed than is possible in applying their power directly to the propellers, added power is generated per unit of weight which more than offsets losses through changing steam power into electrical energy.

American Battleship Plans.

When the plans for the great battleships provided in this year's estimate were sent to bidders, the New York navy yard submitted proposals for one ship to be driven by electricity, and the navy general board has the project under consideration. It is not necessary for a decision to be reached for a year, it is said, as it will take that time to construct the hulls up to the point where installation of engines will be decided on.

In the meantime the board has before it at new proposal, which contemplates the substitution of Diesel engines for steam turbines to drive the electric generators. That, it is said, would virtually double the cruising radius of the ship per gallon of fuel oil carried. The board is giving it serious consideration, although no announcement of what experiments and tests have been undertaken has been made.

JACKSON CHOSEN CENTER FOR FARM WORK CAMPAIGN

Government Plans Co-Operative Experiments and Schooling on Broadened Scale.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 27.—Headquarters for the co-operative and demonstration farm work of the United States Department of Agriculture have just been established in Jackson, under R. S. Wilson, State Agent, who formerly was at Columbus. The entire work of the Government agents in this State will henceforth be directed from this point and the work is to be broadened considerably.

Wilson has under him some 50 field experts, and three district agents also will operate out of Jackson.

The department force occupies a suite of offices in the Board of Trade building, and it is expected that with the beginning of the new year the department will place several agricultural specialists here to make studies of various phases of farm work, and to engage in experiments.

Bradner J. Moore, district agent, has installed a new County Commissioner of Agriculture, Carlton G. Smith, in Vicksburg, who succeeds E. B. Whittaker, the latter having been transferred to another territory after getting the co-operative and demonstration farm work in Warren County thoroughly organized.

COURTED WOMAN FOR 17 YEARS, NOW SUES HER

Ranch Man Wants $10,000 as Damages Because She's Married Another.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 27.—R. J. Ashcroft, formerly employed as a hired man on the ranch of E. Daley, on Five Mile Prairie, filed suit here for $10,000 for breach of promise, against Daley's daughter, whom Ashcroft alleges he courted for 17 years, when they became engaged, and who now is Mrs. William Cashman, a wife of another former employe of the ranch.

The petition alleges Miss Daley embraced Ashcroft when they became engaged, in the woodshed, and that she caressed him when he agreed to pay off a mortgage. He said they would put their arms around one another when no one was looking.

Miss Daley would keep putting him off when he wished to marry, he said. He waited till her father died, got her a ring and then waited till the mother died, but still she kept postponing the nuptial date. He said he learned recently she had married the "other hired man, William Cashman."

Mrs. Cashman asserted she merely sent Ashcroft letters and treated him kindly, as she feared to would kill her mother. She admitted he gave her a ring, but denied with emphasis that she permitted him to caress her.

She said she wanted to get him away and keep him away, so she sent him letters and gave him the encouragement as a means to an end.

Finds Prehistoric Skull.

WINFIELD, Kan., Nov. 27.—H. C. Hall, a farmer living near Udall, has unearthed on his farm what may prove one of the rarest of a prehistoric age yet brought to light in Kansas. It is a human skull, which was found in the Columbia limestone strata four feet below the surface. Dr. D. F. Simons has made a careful examination of the fossil and pronounces it a prehistoric human skull.

KITCHENER TELLS HOW BRITISH WERE HARD PRESSED

Eleven German Corps Opposed Them Early in November He Announces to Lords.

HE QUICKLY SENT HELP

French's Men Were Relieved After Fourteen Days and Nights in the Trenches.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, Secretary of State for War, in a speech to the House of Lords yesterday, gave an interesting summary of the military operations.

Lord Kitchener paid a tribute to the gallantry of the Belgian army and to the King of the Belgians, who, he declared, had no intention of quitting Belgian territory. He said the losses of the allies were great, but at the same time were slight compared with those of the enemy, and that the allied troops were in excellent spirits and confident of success.

Regarding recruiting, Earl Kitchener said he still had room for men and he was confident that the men would answer the country's call and see that the war was brought to a successful conclusion. He said that about 30,000 recruits were enlisting weekly.

All Gaps in Army Filled.

"The time will come when we shall require many more and I will then make it thoroughly well known," the Field Marshal said, and added that meantime all the gaps in the British force on the Continent had been filled.

Referring to the German advance on Dunkirk and Calais after the capture of Antwerp, Lord Kitchener mentioned that, in spite of the overwhelming number of the German forces, the British troops vigorously attacked them and a British cavalry division extending over seven miles of trenches threw back the fierce attacks of a whole German army corps for more than two days. The arrival of the Indians on the scene, he said, proved to be a great advantage and when the fresh reinforcements pushed forward, the German march on Calais was stopped.

Lord Kitchener spoke of the splendid fighting qualities of the French troops and of the "pluck of the gallant Belgian army, whose fine resistance has been strengthened and encouraged by the co-operation of the British fleet, which had effectively shelled the German artillery positions."

Sir John French's successful resistance to the German advance, Lord Kitchener told the Lords, was maintained notwithstanding that the German supports had been pushed up in large numbers.

"In the early days of November," he continued, "no less than 11 army corps were attacking the British position. At this critical period the Eighth Division was dispatched from England to join the forces in the field and the valuable co-operation of our allies on our left materially srtengthened the British position.

Supreme Effort Made Nov. 11.

"On Nov. 11 a supreme effort was made by the Germans. The Prussian guard was ordered to force its way through our lines at all costs and to carry them by sheer weight of numbers. But this desperate attempt failed like its predecessor.

"Strong French reinforcements occupied a considerable portion of the British trenches in front of Ypres, and with their front thus appreciably shortened, the British troops, which for over 14 days and nights had never left the trenches or allowed the enemy to maintain a footing in them, were enabled to enjoy a partial, well-earned rest."

Several battalions of territorials, the Secretary for War announced, had joined the British forces and had made themselves felt.

Referring to the latest phase in the conflict raging in Russian Poland, Lord Kitchener said:

"After a hotly contested battle the reinforced Russian troops in this neighborhood have been able to check and defeat the Germans with, I believe, heavier losses than they ever sustained before."

Lord Kitchener also briefly touched on the Turkish intervention, and said that the Russians successfully were advancing in the Caucasus, while an Indian expeditionary force had twice defeated the Turks at the head of the Persian Gulf, where they had occupied the important town of Baxia and were also in touch with a Turkish force 30 miles to the east of the Suez Canal.

The fund's income will provide about $25 a year to be given to students as prizes. Allison will deliver a course of lectures at Washington University on the organization, operation, valuation and taxation of public utility corporations.

Man Robbed in Leaving Theater.

Joseph F. Parisi of 612 Walton avenue told the police he was robbed by a pickpocket of a watch and a purse containing a laundry ticket and $7 while leaving the Empress Theater last night.

Fire Destroys Cottage.

Fire destroyed the one-story frame cottage of Frank Phillips, 4857 Harnburg avenue, while the family was absent last night. A coal oil lamp had been left burning in the kitchen and it is believed it started the blaze.

WOMEN ASSIGNED BUILDINGS FOR TAG DAY COLLECTION

Hospital Association Announces List of Presiding Workers for Saturday.

The list of presiding women for the twenty-second annual box collection, Saturday, of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, was made public today at the association's headquarters, 420 Commercial Building.

No tags will be offered for sale in the postoffice at Eighth and Olive streets. Colin M. Selph stopped this practice last year when he became Postmaster. Persons who knew of the political enmity between Postmaster Selph and David R. Francis, the president and moving spirit of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, saw in that fact a possible reason for the Postmaster's action but it was announced by the Postoffice Department that solicitation of any sort in postoffices was forbidden by department regulations. Until last year the Postmaster's wife usually had been in charge of the sale of tags in the Postoffice.

Saturday Garland's Tomorrow

Great Purchase and Sale of Popular Priced and High-Class Coats and Suits at Less Than Half Price

WE BOUGHT THE ENTIRE SUIT AND COAT STOCKS of TWO of New York's leading manufacturers, who asked that their names be not given, as NEITHER of them ever make a garment to sell WHOLESALE at as low a price as we are going to sell at RETAIL every garment in these TWO "GIANT" PURCHASES.

They are the Suits and Coats, however, that every woman of Fashion has read about and seen so extensively advertised in all the magazines and Fashion journals of the East, and which are sold in all the high-class stores from coast to coast. At this time of the year, as is the usual custom, these manufacturers close out all their surplus stock (to get ready for Spring)—irrespective of cost. We made our bid for every Coat and Suit in these 2 immense factories and our bid was accepted. While we have made bigger purchases, this is by far the "classiest" lot of garments and the biggest values of all our previous best efforts. It took nerve and a lot of cash. The garments are here, and we promise you in all sincerity the biggest values in brand-new, up-to-date Suits and Coats, right from the iron, that you ever saw in all your life.

Every garment is man-tailored by experts from a timely fabric; luxuriant, pronounced or restrained, but in perfect harmony with the season's correct mode. And this timely purchase has made it easy for you to wear a suit or coat of this character. The opportunity is now yours.

JOSEPH SMITH, CHURCH PRESIDENT, NEAR DEATH

President of Reorganized Latter Day Saints Stricken With Heart Disease at 82.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 27.—There was no change today in the condition of Joseph Smith, president of the reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, who is near death at his home here from heart disease. The aged head of the church was stricken several days ago but news of his illness was withheld.

Smith is 82 years old and for several months has been in ill health. Recently he became blind and was forced to abandon many of his duties as editor of the Saint's Herald, the official publication of the church.

Smith was born in Kirtland, O. When the main body of the Mormons migrated to Utah, he remained here. He was opposed to polygamy, and in 1860 became president of the reorganized church, which did not affiliate with the Utah church.

HENRY STARR, OKLAHOMA OUTLAW, VIOLATES PAROLE

He Is Believed to Have Joined Famous Gang in Southeastern Part of State.

LEADER UNDER ARREST

Joe Davis Is Accused of Slaying Companion for Failing to Divide Bank Loot.

BARTLESVILLE, Ok., Nov. 27.—Henry Starr, Cherokee Indian bank robber, has violated the parole upon which he was released from the penitentiary at Canyon City, Colo., several months ago. Oklahoma prisoners are kept in Colorado under a contract.

Joe Davis, son of Jack Davis, for many years a feud leader at Porum, is under arrest at McAlester, Ok., charged with the murder of Tom Spencer, former member of the Davis gang, whose body was found in the woods near the town of Blocker several months ago, shortly after the daylight robbery of the Central State Bank, at Kiefer. The robbers got $6000. Spencer is said to have carried off the money, without dividing it with his companions.

Davis Family Once Wealthy.

Oklahoma officers believe Starr has been in touch with the Davis gang since he left Colorado. He has known the Davis family for many years. In the last year numerous bank robberies in Oklahoma have been charged to men who have been associates of Joe Davis. Banks at Keystone, Millerton, Broken Bow, and Kiefer were attacked, most of them successfully.

The Davis family established itself in the neighborhood of Porum, McIntosh County, more than 20 years ago, and soon became wealthy and powerful. Its mainstays were the two brothers Jack and Sam Davis. The latter, now an old man, was a banker at Porum until about a year ago when the community hatred grew so strong that he moved to Talequah. He was never known as a gunfighter, this distinction resting mostly upon Jack Davis and his son Joe.

WOMAN TELLS HOW SHE CHASED BIG HUSBAND

She Threw Ink Bottle at Him, She Says in Trial on Peace Disturbance Charge.

Mrs. Stella Grimmer of 1228 North Garrison avenue today told in Judge Hogan's court how she chased her husband, Leroy P. Grimmer, nearly three blocks through downtown streets, Wednesday afternoon, after throwing an ink bottle at him in his labor agency at 5 North Eighth street.

Mrs. Grimmer is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. Her husband is 6 feet tall and weighs 200 pounds. In view of this, Judge Hogan said he would not decide the case until he heard testimony from Mrs. Grimmer's father, J. C. Stubbs, who is Grimmer's business partner. Stubbs was in the labor agency office when the chase started, but was not in court today.

Mrs. Grimmer was on trial charged with disturbing her husband's peace. She testified that last Wednesday she appeared in the Court of Criminal Correction as prosecuting witness against her husband on a wife abandonment charge. He was acquitted.

Wednesday afternoon she went to his office and asked him for money. When he refused to give her any she threw an ink bottle at him, she said. The ink spattered over John Weller, a clerk, whose coat and shirt, with ink on them, were introduced in evidence. Grimmer fled from the office and ran, pursued by his wife until he met a policeman, who arrested Mrs. Grimmer.

IGOE TO ASK CONGRESS TO EXTEND BRIDGE TIME

Previous Grant Gives City Until Feb. 17, 1915, to Complete Structure.

Congressman William L. Igoe has conferred with Mayor Kiel and City Counselor Baird in the matter of introducing a bill on the opening day of Congress, Dec. 7, to extend the time in which St. Louis may complete the free bridge. The time allowed to the city by the last grant of February, 1912, will expire Feb. 17, 1915.

As St. Louis has passed the bond issue to provide money for the completion of the bridge, Congressman Igoe does not believe there will be any objection in Congress to a further extension of time. An act of Congress provides that construction of a bridge across a navigable stream must be commenced within one year after the right is granted, and must be completed within 36 months. It has been necessary to ask for three extensions of time since Congress passed the original act in June, 1906.

The first extension was granted in February, 1907, and again in February, 1908, the city was compelled to ask for a second extension. Congressman Igoe expects to confer with Senator Stone and have him introduce the time extension bill in the Senate the opening day to expedite its passage.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 27.—E. D. Kelly of Savannah, a participant in the 300-mile motor cycle race here yesterday, died today from injuries received when his machine struck a tree. Gray Sloop of Mooresville, N. C., was killed instantly yesterday during the race.

GAMBLING RAID NETS 43 PLAYERS AND $2500

Two Patrolmen Rush Coffee House and Find Pasente Games in Progress.

Two patrolmen raided a Greek coffee house at 1309 Market street at 9:30 o'clock last night, arrested 43 Greeks and confiscated $2500 and playing cards.

The patrolmen had been told that gambling was in progress in the coffee house and were warned that "lookouts" would try to prevent them from entering. They got on a Market street car and had the motorman stop in front of the coffee house. With revolvers they rushed the house, throwing aside a man who was standing in the doorway.

They found the Greeks seated around 16 tables playing pasente, which is similar to pitch. Adam and Sam Condes, proprietors of the coffee house, were among those arrested. They are charged with conducting a gambling resort.

Commencing Nov. 29, the Wabash St. Louis-Colorado Limited train will leave St. Louis at 9:01 a. m. instead of 2:15 p. m. arriving Denver 12:20 a. m., San Francisco 9:30 a. m.—time only 76½ hours—no extra fare.

WIFE LEAVES 51 TIMES

This Time She Has Been Gone a Year and Husband Gets Divorce.

BRAINERD, Minn., Nov. 27.—Albert R. Adkins has been granted a divorce from his wife, Elizabeth Adkins, and the custody of the minor children. The case was heard by Judge W. S. McClanahan.

It was a regular thing for his wife to desert him, remain away from home over nights, the complaint stated. Five times she packed her clothing, squandered his money in telephone, telegraph, livery bills and railway fare, and would go to her parents or relatives and stay for days and months at a time. In June, 1913, he says, she left him for good.

WANTS BRIDGE RAISED

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service is trying to have the United Railways Co. raise the temporary bridge at Tower Grove station 6 feet to admit of its use for street cars. The bridge, 200 feet long, extends along Hunt avenue from Vandeventer avenue to Tower Grove avenue. The cost of raising it would be about $1000. Bruce Cameron, superintendent of the company, has informed Kinsey that the company is unwilling to incur the expense.

The railway company's plan is to have passengers leave the cars at Tower Grove station, walk 200 feet across the bridge and take a "dinkey" car over the southern end of the Southampton and Chouteau lines. A conference is to be held this afternoon.

Gov. Major to Attend Poultry Show and Banquet in St. Louis Tonight.

For his feathers, "Jim" will win no blue ribbons at the Missouri State poultry show at the Coliseum. But if there was a "high-brow" class, he would have no competition. Unfortunately for "Jim," roosters are judged by their fine plumage, the points of their combs, the color of their eyes, the shape of their feet and physical conformation to certain book standards. Brains do not count at all.

That "Jim" speaks perfect French; that he will crow for you at your request by telephone; that he will always accept your challenge for a fight, and after having plucked a strip of skin from your hand with his beak, will pose for you like an angel and pray for forgiveness like a returning prodigal—all these refinements amount to nothing in his favor in the consideration of the poultry experts.

"Jim" was taught all of his tricks by his invalid master, A. E. Rump, of 6216 Columbia avenue. Rump was a former postoffice clerk, but as the result of an accident, has been a hopeless invalid for five years, being unable to move any part of his body but his arms. While making a living by taking magazine subscriptions, he taught "Jim" many tricks. "Jim" is a golden bantam rooster. He weighs only two pounds, and has spurs three inches long.

You may say to "Jim," "what do you want?" or "que voules vous?" and he responds immediately:

"Choc-ah-lah!"

Which, translated from "Jim's" French into English, means that he wants chocolates. He lives principally upon chocolates and California grapes. Ordinary candy and home-grown grapes he will eat not at all. But if you place before him a box of chocolates he will rip the top off with his keen spurs, and glut himself on the sweets.

It required years of patient training to develop "Jim's" mental faculties. Rump sent his pet rooster to the poultry show, but did not enter him in the competition. "Jim" spends his time entertaining visitors at Rump's booth. Occasionally he is taken to a telephone booth and crows his good wishes to his master in his bed at home.

The Missouri white fluffs—chickens which have a plumage of down instead of white feathers—are another freak attraction at the poultry show. Mrs. J. D. Rice of Hickory, Mo., is the originator of these birds. They have no quills in their feathers and cannot fly. They are offshoot of the white Plymouth Rocks. Five years ago Mrs. Rice discovered that four or five of her chicks had no real feathers. She gave them special care and raised two cockerels and two pullets, from which she developed the featherless breed.

Gov. Major will be at the Poultry Show today and will attend the banquet of the poultrymen at the Marquette Hotel tonight.

LEGISLATOR-ELECT DIES; ELECTION TO FILL PLACE

Martin Ward of Third District Succumbs Suddenly While Talking to Fiancee.

The sudden death of Martin Ward of 1443 North Tenth street, Democratic member-elect of the Missouri Legislature from the Third District, will make it necessary for Gov. Major to call a special election in that district to fill the vacancy. Ward fell dead at 1443 North Eleventh street last night, while talking to Miss Mary Moore, to whom he was to have been married in January. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause.

According to Chairman Drabelle of the Board of Election Commissioners, the law makes it obligatory upon the Governor to call a special election when he is notified that a vacancy exists. The vacancy cannot exist, however, until the next session of the Legislature convenes in Jefferson City in January, as Ward would not have become a member until that time.

The Governor, in his proclamation, which will be directed to the Sheriff of St. Louis, will order an election to be held on a fixed day. The Sheriff is required by law to give 10 days' notice of the election. The nominations probably will be made by convention.

Ward was one of the three Democrats elected from St. Louis Nov. 3. He was formerly manager of a Cass avenue saloon owned by James J. Gallagher, member of the House of Delegates. A few weeks before the election he was fined $100 and costs on a plea of guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

"Sunset" Law Violated.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 27.—Sheriff J. A. Riechman has announced that he will take special steps to enforce the law prohibiting the movement of cotton seed or the product baled or ginned after sunset. Many complaints of violations have reached him.

TANK OF GREASE EXPLODES, BADLY SCALDING 2 MEN

Heat Treatment for Healing Burns Is Tried at the City Hospital.

George Anweiler, 52 years old, of 4904 Bulwer avenue, and Edgar Gorth, 23, of 5322 Zealand avenue, were severely scalded with boiling grease in an explosion of a garbage rendering vat at the plant of the St. Louis Hide and Tallow Co., Second street and Talcott avenue, about 8 o'clock this morning.

Anweiler is fireman at the plant and Gorth is an engine helper. They were passing around ten cylindrical rendering vats, each 12 feet high and five feet in diameter, and had reached the third tank, when a manhead blew out, apparently from steam pressure.

The boiling grease covered their heads, faces and arms and soaked through their clothing. They were sent to the City Hospital, where physicians said their condition was serious.

The same treatment used on mercury patients was tried upon the scalded men. They were placed in what is called a bed-tent, inside of which are electric lights. The warmth of these lights was used in an effort to reduce the burns.

Anweiler's condition was considered the more serious. He is married.

TAKES MERCURY AT END OF SEVEN WEEKS' SPREE

Salesman Says He Tried to Die Because He Could Not Quit Drinking.

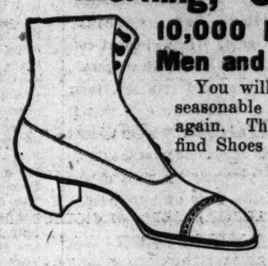

Lawrence McEntee, 47 years old, a salesman, ended a seven weeks' spree yesterday afternoon by taking three bichloride of mercury tablets in a downtown hotel, according to his statement in the city hospital today. He did not give the name of the hotel.

McEntee was found on the street by a policeman, who noticed his condition. He said that he had been addicted to liquor for several years. Seven weeks ago he took a drink, he said, then another, and then continued drinking many times every day until yesterday. He said he decided to end his life because he saw no hope of quitting drink. Physicians say he will recover.

Many Doctors Prescribe Duffy's

"As a pharmaceutical preparation deserving of the highest professional favor, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has no superior.

When stimulation of a safe and substantial character is called for and from which there is no unpleasant reaction is unhesitatingly prescribed by many unprejudiced physicians.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

"I take it as a pleasure, as well as a duty, to say that I have never met with a more satisfactory preparation than Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, as a general reconstructive tonic. I find nothing better for strengthening those who are weak, nervous and run down. I am prescribing Duffy's Malt in my general practice for the weak and feeble who need toning up, and have yet to be disappointed with the results obtained. For malnutrition, nervous exhaustion, convalescing, loss of weight and strength, insomnia, it has never failed to bring about results which were gratifying to myself and patients." ——M. D. Professional etiquette forbids our publishing the physician's name but we shall be glad to furnish same on request.

Experiences like this, and we have records of many similar, fully corroborate every claim made in behalf of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It is a food tonic which feeds the nerves, increases the energy and gives fresh vigor to the overworked body and mind. In the case of elderly people where it is decided to build up the strength to stimulate the bodily functions, and to improve the circulation, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey proves beneficial. It is a life-sustaining agent in cases of emergency which no family medicine chest should lack.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Who Should Pay for the Parkway?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I always had a vague idea that the newspapers would be impartial in a nonpartisan matter, but their selfishness is now plainly exhibited in the plan of paying for the central parkway.

It is outrageous that they should try and make the poor property holders in that vicinity and along adjacent streets pay for the improvement. Much of this property has greatly depreciated in value in the last 15 to 20 years and it would take at least 20 years before the property would regain its lost value. On the other hand, the newspapers have made millions here in St. Louis, but have never given anything for a public improvement; and the large department stores, such as Grand-Leader, Famous-Barr and Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney, have been very successful, also the large wholesale houses on Washington avenue, and there has been a great increase in value of property in the central downtown district in the last 15 years. These are the people who have been benefited in the past and will receive most of the benefit from the new parkway and they are the ones who should pay the greatest portion of the expense for making it.

FAIR PLAY.

White Gloves for Traffic Officers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The average traffic officer is pretty good, but, let me ask you a question: After sunset, can you readily see their signals? On the better lighted corner, maybe; on the darker corners, no. People say autos have bright headlights. True, but they don't always use them in the city.

As an auto driver, I suggest as a remedy for this that the traffic officers be forced to wear white gloves. Yours truly, W. THACHER.

Antitoxin and Medical Ethics.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why all this talk about diphtheria and the price of antitoxin? To the writer it appears that a few doctors are trying to get a little ethical (?) advertising as they did with the typhoid scare last summer. Anyone acquainted with the subject knows that anti-toxin costs no more than it did last year or the year before.

Before the efficiency of antitoxin was proven by Behring and Frankel diphtheria ran a much longer course and the mortality was much greater than today. Previous to 1891, without anti-toxin, the disease lasted 4 to 6 weeks, with a doctor bill at $2 a day, the cost to the parent was from $56 to $84 let alone the funeral bill, while today with $7.50 for antitoxin and a doctor at $2 a day for 10 days or a total of $27.50, in a great majority of cases and everybody was happy or at least should be.

Please get over the idea that the doctor with a political job knows more medicine than the one who is not a politician.

Yours for true professional ethics.

To Repel Invaders.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The most popular military organization in the United States could be formed by the state or national Government if the members were sworn in subject to call to repel foreign invasion and for no other purpose. Millions of men would enlist under such an understanding and they would form a third line of defense that could hardly be broken. The average American is a good shot, a splendid walker and can make a camp better than anybody, but he does not want to join a military organization under the conditions at present prevailing in this country. Such an organization as the above should meet about four times a year and give more attention to target practice than to pulling weeds and carrying cases of beer to the officers' tents, as is the custom in some of the military camps at present. Move and Rebuild Art Gallery.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your editorial of the 17th, upon the subject matter of transportation to the Art Gallery agitated by the St. Louis Art League, suggests to me a much easier method of access to the gallery.

I have consulted several eminent architects in this city; and they advise me that it would be an easy matter to remove the Art Gallery stone by stone and rebuild at some convenient place—for instance, in the park near Skinker road—and that the cost of removing and rebuilding the Art Gallery would not exceed $75,000, and could be done without injury to the grounds, because the removal, stone by stone, could be done by gravity trolley. I have no doubt that a city ordinance could be passed and money could be found to accomplish this thing. It is obvious what it would mean to the people of St. Louis and visitors would be a hundred to one if the gallery were accessible to a street railway. The location would be near Washington University and this magnificent pile of architecture would blend beautifully with the Art Gallery. L. E.

PEACE OR WAR WITH MEXICO?

Critics of the President's Mexican policy and some of its supporters severely condemn the withdrawal of American troops from Vera Cruz. They say that this act demonstrates the weakness and inconsistency of the Wilson policy and leaves the Mexican problem in the air.

These critics ought to define their views of the Mexican question more fully. They should make clear their opinion of what the object of American policy in Mexico should be. Are they for peace or for war with Mexico?

The object of the President has been clearly defined. Troops were sent to Vera Cruz to eliminate Huerta, because, as the President said, he was a usurper who had gained power through assassination and because, as a usurper, he had treated the United States with contempt. The President emphasized his intention to let the Mexican people settle their own difficulties and establish their own Government, with the condition only that it be done by constitutional methods. The President did not claim the right to determine who should be President of Mexico or precisely by what means the Mexicans should settle their own troubles.

What would be the purpose of a continued occupation of Vera Cruz, now that Huerta has been eliminated and the Constitutionalists are in power? Would it not be, by force or threat of arms, to set up a Government, with a President of our selection? Shall we assume the duty of putting down all revolution in Mexico and declaring that Carranza, or Villa, or Zapata, or any other of the faction leaders, shall be president and all others must submit?

Everybody knows what that would mean. It would mean, if threats failed, war with Mexico, or at least with the factions of Mexicans who opposed our plan. Are we prepared to go to war with Mexico merely because the Mexicans have not yet arrived at a settlement of their own troubles and there are threats of revolution and continued disturbance? Are we prepared to enforce peace and our government on Mexico, and to guarantee at any cost that our plan shall be a success?

The indefinite maintenance of troops in Vera Cruz would not have brought about a settlement of the Mexican question for the Mexicans. It would have meant that we were there for this purpose and it would have been a practical notice to the Mexicans that they must arrive at a conclusion satisfactory to us or we would use our military power to compel such a conclusion.

We must accept one of the alternatives. By withdrawing we leave the Mexicans free to settle their own difficulties. If the troops had remained, it would have been in effect the adoption of the contrary policy, of enforcing our settlement on the Mexicans. The logic of the one leads toward peace. The logic of the other leads toward war.

If we were not prepared and did not intend to substitute for revolutionary disturbances in Mexico war between the United States and the Mexicans, the President is fully justified.

We believe the great majority of Americans indorse the President's policy of doing everything possible to avoid war with Mexico. They do not want war.

COMPENDIUMS ON FEVERED BANKING.

The Lorimer-Munday case continues to furnish the most satisfactory compendium of "What Not to Do in Banking" yet offered the American Public.—The Chicago Herald.

Still, a fairly exhaustive compendium was furnished by the Bankers' Trust Co. of St. Louis.

A LEGAL DEFINITION.

Discussing a minor court case, the New Republic alludes to > the alternative of fine or imprisonment, a device for softening the rigors of the law for persons of means.

That precisely is what the Post-Dispatch most sharply criticised in the Clayton anti-trust act. Its provision of "the alternative of fine or imprisonment" for the greatest law breakers is made more odious by the facts that the fine prescribed is for such law breakers negligibly small and that no court ever has inflicted nor probably ever will inflict, the alternative of imprisonment upon any such "person of means," until the law shall be amended to make it mandatory.

As matters stand, a mighty monopolist can take food from the mouths of hundreds of thousands with far less hazard of any actual punishment than that incurred by the desperate pauper who snatches a single loaf from a baker's counter.

CONTRACT PRISON LABOR.

Another "recommendation" that contract labor shall be abolished in the Missouri penitentiary has been made, this time by a special Senate committee. "Recommendations" to this import are endless. Its abolition was in fact made obligatory by a specified date by an existing law which legislative action suspended for only a brief period. The way to abolish contract labor is to abolish it.

PUT THE IDLE SHIPS TO WORK.

If, as Washington dispatches foreshadow, the President in his message to Congress urges the creation of a national merchant marine, he will find he has correctly interpreted popular sentiment on this issue.

Europe's war has withdrawn from the service of American export trade so many ships that the number remaining available is inadequate. A huge fleet of big, fast ships, owned by German stock companies, is interned in American ports. These ships can be bought on very favorable terms. They are needed to serve this country's foreign trade.

No Government can legally protest against their purchase and use in carrying noncontraband merchandise from this to any other country.

American private capital, as the President states, has failed to meet the emergency. It is therefore proper for the nation to take the matter in hand, reopening closed ocean trade routes and establishing new ones to get American goods to market.

The idle ships should be put to work.

GEORGIA JUSTICE.

A jury in a Georgia court has convicted Leo M. Frank of murder. He has been sentenced to death. There appears to be grave doubt whether he was justly convicted, or is an innocent man, the victim of a mob spirit dominating court and jury.

C. P. Connolly, a distinguished publicist and a former public prosecutor in Butte, Mont., attended the trial. He writes:

> When Frank was sentenced he was in no danger of lynching—the mob was satisfied to let the law take its course, because the law had been the obedient handmaid of the mob. But before the verdict was rendered, the mob, breathing vengeance in the very face of the court and jury, let it be known it would tolerate nothing but a verdict of guilty. "Innocent or guilty, we will get the d—d Jew!" was their cry, heard by numbers of respectable citizens.
>
> The Judge on the bench and in the presence of the jury consulted with the chief of the State militia and the Chief of Police of Atlanta as to the best method of safeguarding Frank's life in case of a verdict of acquittal. The Judge even advised Frank's lawyers to remain away from the courtroom when the jury should bring in their verdict, for fear the mob would hang both them and Frank. That these eminent lawyers, men of the very highest legal attainments and reputation, correctly gauged the spirit of the mob, is shown by the fact that they did remain away from the courtroom. While the Judge was polling the jury, in response to the request of the absent lawyers, the cheers of the mob outside the courtroom so smothered the voices of the jurors that the Judge, sitting 10 feet away, could not hear their replies. These facts are matters of record, admitted by the trial Judge.

Clearly this was not a fair and impartial trial in the spirit of the law, however it may be argued to have complied with the letter.

Mr. Connolly adds:

> The Florida Times-Union of Jacksonville said it would have been better had Atlanta burned Frank on the State Capitol grounds than to have gone through the forms of law and enacted so hideous an injustice.
>
> After a study of every phase of the Frank case for weeks, I am as satisfied of this man's innocence of this crime as I am of my own innocence of it. The Judge who tried Frank declared from the bench that he could not make up his mind from the evidence that Frank was guilty. I tried to discover one lawyer in Atlanta who believed him guilty. I was curious to know on what he would base his judgment. I found only one who was in doubt of Frank's innocence, but who was certain that there was no sufficient evidence against him. Even this lawyer spoke of Frank's trial as a disgraceful farce. "No Jew in modern times," said a distinguished lawyer and a law partner of the man who prosecuted Frank, "has been persecuted as this Jew has been."

Georgia cannot afford to hang any man convicted under such circumstances. Gov. Slaton should, and we believe he will, commute Frank's sentence to life imprisonment, thus affording further opportunity to develop the truth, and saving his State from the possibility of sending an innocent man to the gallows.

THE BULWARK THAT CRUMPLED.

Has the battleship game played out? The fate of the Audacious, Bulwark and other warships sunk by submarines and mysterious explosions emphasizes the question.

There are not data enough to reach a conclusion, though there are enough for the beginning of serious discussion. There were those who suspected that the invention of means of charging shells with high explosives rendered the ponderous steel-clad as obsolete as the arquebuse rendered the chain armor of the medieval knights. Perhaps that was the reason the inventor of the high explosive shell had such difficulty in getting his idea adopted by war departments dominated by the munition makers and manufacturers of armor plate.

The world went on building and launching battleships, but now, to explosives of almost unbelievable power, are added practical ways of detonating them in the submerged plane below a ship and in the aerial plane above it, as well as in the plane of the water's surface. The vulnerability of the formerly secure ship of heavy steel protection and large bulk was enormously increased.

The fact is that in such measuring of real strength at sea as there has been to date the honors have been carried off by new and stealthy agencies of attack, which have not played much part in previous wars. The naval status quo is as much disturbed as if in the battle of Trafalgar new factors had been introduced which rendered the result dependent in much less degree on seamanship, speed, weight of metal thrown and skill of the men handling the guns.

Until new and compensating factors are introduced into the equation, warships will lose a large part of their value as dependable armaments.

NO AMERICAN INDIAN "PRINCESSES."

Richard Croker is an ex-chief of Tammany and perhaps it was to be expected that the temptation to call his bride a Cherokee Princess would be irresistible. But the American Indians had no Princesses. The head of the tribe was elected or was indicated by common consent. The position was not hereditary. Pocahontas was styled a Princess because the customs of her people were then little known.

The bride has a finer distinction in being a woman of the Cherokees, as a whole the most progressive and enlightened of all the Indian tribes, and as a descendant of that Sequoya, "Cadmus of his people," who invented the admirable Cherokee alphabet. She has even a finer distinction as plain Miss Bula Benton Edmondson, a representative woman of the imperial State of Oklahoma.

Conflicting reports of prisoners taken in Poland can be reconciled on the theory that one side captured too many men to be held and that the captured were enabled to seize their captors.

IN THE SHADOW.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

THE CITY.

(After reading of two attempts at suicide from Eads Bridge, St. Louis.)

A city of lights and busy streets,
A city of work and din,
A city where Youth un-wary meets
The harlot of shallow sin;
A city whose dens have secret ways,
And tunnels which lead to Hell,
A city where Lure in pastime plays
At a game she fears to tell!

A city of lights and shadows dim,
A city of human lives,
A city of waxing creatures slim,
A city of walls and gyves:
A city of Fools and minded men,
A city of slit-eyed knaves;
A city of rich and poor, and then
A city of silent graves!

A city of homes with downy beds,
A city of loving hearts,
A city where children lay their heads
At rest when the sun departs;
A city whose charity proffers alms
So that men who must might eat,
A city whose tender mercy calms
The stricken, fallen at its feet!

A city whose prayers reach up to God,
That the soul of a man may live,
Forgetting the lines that daily plod,
Asking it but some task to give;
Sullen, in deep despair he walks
Till his blood marks the horrid trail,
God answers ye through that form which stalks
Over the river's shining fail!

Will ye save him then, or let him sink?
A man, a mother's son!
Tottering now on the peril's brink,
Now! or the time is done:
For he lingers not, the man who dares,
Dares Death, unknown, eternal!
Give him a task for his living cares,
Or hurl him to death infernal!

IRVIN MATTICK.

It begins to look as if Pancho Villa is the kind of man whom Pancho Villa would like to see President.

The newest slang in New York is said to be "Nobody Home." Let us hope that there will be nobody home when it gets out here.

The Turkish army seems to be making its farewell tour of Europe.

THE NEUTRAL'S THANKSGIVNG.

An Englishman alighting off an Olive street car at corner of Grand avenue.

Time, 12 noon Thanksgiving day.

Hark!! What is that? Fifty thousand Germans captured. By jove! Really? I must buy a Post-Dispatch. Ha! Ha! Well, I'm blowed! And on Thanksgiving day, too. This is great.

You know, old chappie, we don't have any "Thanksgiving day" in "my" country, but after this I really must advocate that we recognize this day.

It's simply astounding, don't you know, that these confounded Germans picked this day of all days.

Why? Of course, now that I come to think of it, they must have wanted more "turkey" or perhaps "trimmings." Well, I'm confident, deah boy! They have got the "trimming."

But, nevah mind, old chap, let's try and cheer them up a bit.

Enter saloon. Say, waitah! Give us two bottles of Budweiser. "ANDY."

It is not clear at this time which side took those 40,000 prisoners in Poland. We suggest that the matter be settled by crediting each side with 20,000.

There seems nothing to be thankful for the day after Thanksgiving.

Essentials for a Husking Bee.

To begin with, of course you've got to have a moonlight night; a full harvest moon, shedding its rays beneficently over the earth.

Next, you've got to have an old-fashioned fiddler. Not a mere violinist, able to play such simple things as the Traumerei or an Intermezzo, but a real, downright, genuine fiddler (with whiskers, of course, which are always in imminent danger of getting loose and tangled up with the fiddle strings), who saws the catgut with all the fervor of a revivalist, while he plays "Turkey in the Straw," "The New Cut Road," "Old Dan Tucker," "Chickens in the Bread Tray," "Shake That Wooden Leg," and so on, throughout the repertoire of songs of a day of real music.

Then, of course, you've got to have some small boy (not Her brother, because he might tell) steal into the barn about an hour before the first guest arrives and bury a half-dozen or a dozen ears of red corn. If you haven't any red corn, paint some Reid's Yellow Dent red, it's easy.

After that, you hang up a few old-fashioned "hayburner" lanterns, and await the guests and results.

Neither are long in coming.—The Countryside Magazine.

THE EMDEN RAISED VARNISH PRICES.

From the Detroit Free Press.

Scattered in the wake of the German cruiser Emden, the terror of the English merchant marine from the start of the war until the daredevil Teuton's vessel was sunk by the Australian cruiser Sydney, are 18 cargoes that should have reached Detroit.

Among the ships that went to Davy Jones' locker, with the gaping holes made by the Emden's shells in their hulls, it is estimated that there were 18 laden with Calcutta gum which was destined to be turned into varnish at the local manufactories. The delay occasioned by the mixing of the gum with sea water nearly caused a famine of varnish in Detroit and threatened to prevent the paint manufacturers from filling orders. The Emden's accuracy of fire was responsible also for a rise in the price of the gum from 6 to 24 cents a pound.

Because of the final destruction of the Emden there was a sort of commercial jubilation among the paint makers. Aside from joy that the gum would probably be coming into the shops again, the paint makers also took heart in the announcement that after Jan. 1 colors would be produced in this country. Colors have been a foreign ingredient of paint, and the war cut off the supply and boosted prices to the high-water mark.

QUEER BRIEUX.

From the New York Globe.

Eugene Brieux, member of the French Academy and one of the most distinguished dramatists of France, is an extraordinary person. It is possible to say that he is almost abnormal.

M. Brieux is in New York as a delegate to the American Academy of Arts and Letters. But instead of handing to the gang-plank reporters a redhot statement concerning the war, he told them that he would not discuss the war while a guest of a neutral country. "I have too much respect for its freedom and its independence of judgment," said M. Brieux, "to venture to say a word about the war—at all events until I have terminated my official mission."

The distinguished Frenchman has queer notions of his privileges and his duties. Is he not aware that the first thing for him to do is to let out a scream in behalf of his country, a second scream against the savagery of its enemies, and, finally, third scream against anyone in neutral America expressing an opinion contrary to his own? The idea of silence on the part of a foreign citizen because it is not his business to instruct us is stunning in its originality.

A Noted German's Viewpoint.

(By Maximilian Harden, Prussian publicist.)

We do not stand before the judgment seat of Europe. We acknowledge no such jurisdiction. Our might shall create a new law in Europe. It is Germany that strikes. When she has conquered new domains for her genius, then the priesthoods of all the gods will praise the god of war.

Long-Lived Mr. La Follette.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

From the way the folks La Follette has been licking for a dozen years keep on protesting that the people are done with him, it looks as though they didn't feel any too sure.

Secret Grief.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

It must be a source of continual grief to the Colonel that he is related to such a successful, conscienceless old reactionary as that son-in-law of his out in Ohio.

Joffre's Prestige.

From the Charleston News and Courier.

There are some people in this country who are almost ready to put Gen. Joffre in the class with George Stallings.

Non-Political.

Col. Goethals says the landslides are not quite so bad this year.

CORRECTED.

BEAUTY CULTURE.

MILDRED.—Hair tonic containing sage tea and whisky: To one quart sage tea add one pint best whisky, 30 grains quinine, half ounce cantharides, two ounces glycerin and two drams oil of bay. Massage the scalp every night with this lotion.

B.—Use a few drops of benzoin in the cold water in which you bathe your face in the mornings, just enough to make the water milky, or sponge the face with the following lotion twice a day: Orange-flower water 8 ounces, and tincture of benzoin 2 drams. For the complexion: Eat simple food, do not partake of cake, candy, pastry, pork, rich gravies or greasy foods. Drink two quarts of cool (not iced) water between meals. Exercise and bathe regularly.

(Robert Keller is living).

Their Last Ride

By Shirley Dawson.

EMERGING from behind the sheltering walls of the canyon, the team settled into a five-mile gait. The wagon rattled over the hard surface of the mesa road, keeping ever to the tops of the ridges, curving to avoid arroyos, yet always descending gradually across the vast expanse of the foothills to the green valley of the Rio Grande.

In the wagon box lay a slight, stark object wrapped in a gray blanket.

The increasing heat of the open road thrust itself interruptingly upon the silence of the two men.

Jim Riley looked restlessly behind him and then at the other man whom he addressed.

"Funny notion some folks get about buryin', ain't it? Seems like the more civilized an' Christianized folks get, the more un-religious they is in their notions about bein' buried. It's plumb foolish shippin' dead folks back home." "It does seem foolish, but I reckon it's a right of comfort to their folks," said Porter, slapping the lines along the mules' backs.

"No, sir-ree, you bet, none of it fer me. If I'm lucky enough to get mine out in the open, let me lay right there in a little hole close by, with a half a continent a-rollin' down hill in front of me. That's big enough fer me. I want to lay where I die an' my boots on." Riley ended. Then shifting in his seat he raised a restraining hand.

PORTER brought the team to a halt. Riley jumped to the road and went to the back of the wagon. "Lord, but it's hot," he said gravely, dipping a pail into a barrel and dashing water over the stark form.

Presently the wagon moved on again. "Poor boy, I bet he'd never have asked us to try to get him to El Paso in time if he'd have known what the heat means on a job like this—an' I'm not knowin' yet, that we'll be in time. Seems like this is hotter weather'n common."

"We can't do no mor'n to try," Porter said.

"Sure, we're doin' the only thing we can do, but it's almighty tough."

At noon the drooping horses demanded rest.

Porter took a folded blanket from the front seat and threw it over a couple of mesquite bushes; it cast a narrow strip of shade, and the two men, seeking this, stretched out in the hot sand.

"Poor devil," Riley said, watching the drip of the water under the wagon. "He died like a Christian an' a sport, an' that's more'n—this."

Well, it's what he wanted, an' I reckon that's all the livin' can do fer the dead."

"You bet," Riley replied laconically. "But you're right, all right, an' I'm hopin' by the Eternal, that we'll beat it in time to the undertaker's. Let's drag it, what d'you say? Gosh, but those birds up there, is gettin' on my nerves."

Porter opened his eyes and looked, out and above. There, soaring on lazy wing, circling, sailing, drifting on the wind, gaunt buzzards watched afar.

So the hours passed; passed with the changing shadows on the hills; when one was gone, another followed, and hours and shadows alike seemed without end.

FINALLY the smoke of El Paso could be seen, a faint cloud floating above graveled hills.

"We're on the last lap now, Riley, but I'm afraid the old gray blanket will be a shroud, poor chap. We've done our best but the sun's goin' to beat us to it. I'm not wantin' to take no more rides like this."

"Nor me. I liked this chap fine, but I'll not be sorry to say good-by, this time," Riley said brusquely. He was standing on the back wheel, ready to jump into the road after emptying the last bucket of water on the gray-blanketed figure, and he looked back now, at the stark form, and, with his pitying thoughts still lingering there, he jumped.

An automobile, coming from the rear, shot past. A warning cry from Porter, a shout and a woman's scream, rang in Jim Riley's ears as he passed over the great divide. His lips softened to the shadow of a smile, at the involuntary bidding of his last consciousness, when fear and shock had passed with the swift review of the panorama of a lifetime.

Porter, grappling with the frightened horses, gray and grim, choked an unfamiliar sound within his throat, and looked as he was, it was as nothing to the sorrow that gave no outward sign.

The man from the automobile, it was, who laid Riley's battered body beside the road and covered the sightless eyes that seemed now, to stare with a fixed terror at the black specks against the burning sky; specks that sailed and circled and drifted on the wind.

"Anythin' you can do? Sure. Stay by him till I can bring somebody. It ain't a joyful job I know; tough on the lady, but it's the best we can do. I've got a dead man aboard already. Fifty miles we've brought him so's that he could be buried decent, back in Tennessee.

But I'll be right back, an' say, if we've got any pull, I want to dig a grave right here fer Riley. That was what he wanted—to die in the open—and lay—where he died. Me an' him, we've lived half a lifetime together, an' I give the rest of mine to see that gets what he wants—wanted.

Well, so long. I'll be pullin' my freight. Git up Roany! Git up Boney! Ye old caballos—y'ain't got much husky left in you, have you? But we're lighter, now, than we was," Porter chuckled as the horses started down the steep grade.

"Well, pard, I'll see that you lie in the open, too, with half the world lyin' at your feet, an' the grand old mountain'll be your everlastin' monument, an' you'll be sleepin' right at home. An', Jim," he said, looking up into the marvelous blue that surmounted the riot of the sunset, "the birds is a-followin' of my freight an' there ain't no black specks, back there, a-flyin' between you an' heaven."

The "Butterfly's Wardrobe"

(Economy Talks)

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch By ELEANOR SCHORER

ALMOST overnight Milady of the Schoolbooks is transformed! Out of her brown, dull, useful study shall she bloom into the Butterfly stage!

All little women have a "butterfly" stage, because all have butterfly hearts. All love the beautiful, the fluffy, dainty things. And it is in this period of the girl's life that economy can do wonders. Sixty dollars is enough to make any girl a little sister of the "Butterfly rich" if the money is wisely spent. Simple gowns, simple, inexpensive materials—neat, simple trimmings!

Crepe de chine can be "tubbed" like a piece of calico if soft, white soap is employed and the gown is hung up to dry on a clear, breezy day out of reach of Mr Sun's color-fading rays. No material comes in more beautiful colors, none falls in more graceful folds, none gives better wear and service.

In view of these four facts, crepe de chine is by far the most economical fabric of which to make an evening gown.

Excepting, perhaps the now popular "cotton gown," a gown of contrasting combinations of cotton lace is never a failure. It cannot but be rich and dainty as a fairy robe. Different tones of white and ecru are about all the colors lace gives us. A rose, a bit of bright ribbon or colored slippers and stockings supply the necessary touch.

Cotton gowns can also be washed, but in washing be sure not to use the water too hot. The material is sure to shrink if you do.

The clever manager can make two evening gowns do her a whole season. By adding a little fur and a rose or another frill or taking them away the appearance of the whole gown can be changed. Upon this subject few girls need "pointers;" they are mostly all past masters.

One afternoon frock will last a perfect age if it is a dark shade of green, blue, brown or purple, and cut on conservative lines. An unusually striking gown is an extravagance. Besides everyone remembering it perfectly and all the "cats" counting how many times it has appeared in public, it is more than likely thant you will get dreadfully tired of it yourself.

No dress need cost more than $20. You can have a "creation" for that if you make it yourself.

SOME NEW RECIPES.

Maple Charlotte—Soak half ounce gelatin in cold water to cover. Dissolve by standing it over hot water. Put 3 tablespoons of grated maple sugar in a saucepan, stir till melted, add 1 pint of cream; let mixture boil gently to a creamy thickness, cool slightly, add yolks of 3 eggs, 4 tablespoons of maple sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons cold milk, beaten till light. Stir in gelatin, set aside to get cold; line a mold with sponge cake cut in slices. Pour in the cream and cover the top of the mold with thin slices of cake, garnish with spun maple sugar and whipped sweetened cream poured over top of cake. This dessert should stand two hours on ice before serving.

Marshmallow Paste—Boil ¾ cup sugar and ¼ cup milk 6 minutes. Melt ¼ pound marshmallows and add 2 tablespoons hot water. Combine the two mixtures. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla and beat until stiff enough to spread.

Fried Tripe—The fresh tripe is best for boiling. In using the pickled honeycomb tripe, cut in pieces for serving. Wash in cold water, cover with boiling water and simmer gently 20 minutes. Drain and again cover, using equal parts of cold water and milk. Heat to boiling point, again drain. Wipe dry as possible, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brush over with melted butter, dip in batter, fry in deep fat and drain on brown paper. Serve with chili sauce. Do not imagine the acid will cause much trouble. But the tripe should not be eaten until well washed. Do not use any pickled or corned meats unless they are first thoroughly washed.

The complaint was sworn out by the boy's father, who alleged that he had shot at him with a rifle following an altercation.

Handbooks and "Reading Circle" to Meet Requirements of All Grades and Ages.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Hundreds of thousands of women upon whose shoulders has developed the responsibility of rearing children in isolated communities, miles away from a postoffice, railroad or physician and unequipped with special knowledge or even the common necessities of life, are being gathered under the wings of the Federal Bureau of Education. It is but a part of the working out of a general plan to encourage individuals to pay more attention to home education and to realize that schooling need not necessarily stop just beyond the classroom door.

The general plan or home education now being perfected by the bureau already includes:

A "Traveling Library," containing books on the care and feeding of babies, the hygiene of the home, first aid instruction and kindred subjects, which are sent under Government penalty envelopes to any woman who cannot reach a library.

A "National Reading Circle," which prescribes many courses, some one of which will meet the requirements of every one no matter what his grade of culture may be.

A survey of courses where educational lanterns slides such as would prove interesting to mothers' clubs may be obtained free of cost.

A league of 40,000 women pledged to inaugurate and encourage parent teachers' organizations in communities which can support them and another group of workers who are collecting the names of all mothers who have children under 3 years of age.

The Isolated Women.

But while the home education program of the bureau is designed to reach the cultured and the uncultured, the man and the woman, the boy and the girl, the mother and the spinster, still the question of rural and isolated women is the one to which the most attention is now being paid.

So it was that the "Traveling Library" came into being. The bureau let it be known that they would upon request send these libraries to any woman who wishes them. They are sent under a penalty stamp, and another stamp is inclosed so that the library may be returned to Washington.

Miss Ellen C. Lombard, under whose charge Commissioner of Education Claxton has placed the home education department, says that what is most needed by the women in rural or absolutely isolated communities is a comprehensive handbook.

"Unscrupulous quacks," said Miss Lombard, "have for years sold what purported to be authoritative books on the treatment of sickness throughout the rural and isolated communities and they reaped a rich harvest, but the books were useless and many times contained gross misinformation.

The National Reading Circle.

"The bureau has no idea of superseding the doctor; but in many instances no physician is nearer than 20 or 30 miles, and a woman should know what steps to take pending the arrival of the practitioner.

"The 'traveling libraries' we think will do much toward remedying this condition, but the states themselves could do untold good by issuing authentic volumes. We already have them circulating in about 10 states, where the isolated communities are most numerous."

The National Reading Circle, which has been established only a few weeks, bids fair to become one of the most popular departures the Bureau of Education has ever made.

The first course, which, as well as the second, is designed for the use of readers who have a high school education or its equivalent.

The third course in the reading circle is designed for the use of parents. Child training, sanitation, domestic science and good modern fiction are included in the list.

The fourth and fifth courses, which are also as yet incomplete, will meet the needs of boys and girls who have not had high school education.

Anyone wishing to join the National Reading Circle may do so by communicating with the Home Education Division of the Bureau of Education, giving name, address, occupation, age and education, at the same time stating the course desired.

Commencing Nov. 29, the Wabash St. Louis-Colorado Limited train will leave St. Louis at 9:01 a. m. instead of 2:15 p. m. arriving Denver 12:20 a. m., San Francisco 9:30 a. m.—time only 74½ hours—no extra fare.

SOIL TESTS COMPLETED IN FOUR MORE COUNTIES

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 27.—With the completion of soil surveys in Grundy, Harrison, Pettis and Johnson counties, 34 counties have been covered by detailed surveys by the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Tests of soil are made on every 10 acres and experiments are conducted to determine the right kind and proper amount of fertiliser to use and the right kind of crops for certain soils. The results of these tests are published in bulletins and maps and distributed free to the farmers.

PROTECT the Family in Winter Driving

Everbody knows the Hupmobile has long been the car of the American family.

Now it is the winter car of the American family, because the Sedan top gives the family complete protection on winter trips.

Come in and see the car with the top fitted, because you surely will want one for your own family.

The extra cost is so small that it is out of all proportion to the comfort afforded and the colds and doctor bills it prevents.

Its appearance is handsome—it harmonizes perfectly with the 1915 Hup's beautiful lines—it is substantially built and firmly, though temporarily, attached.

Inside it compares with the richest limousine.

And when spring comes, take it off and store it away for use the next winter.

If you care for your family's comfort and your own, better see the new car.

MARGARET MAYO'S 'TWIN BEDS' BETTER THAN 'BABY MINE'

Ripley Saunders Finds It Much Funnier Farce and Less Offensive.

MADGE KENNEDY'S HIT

Youthful Actress Who Won Fame in "Little Miss Brown," Has Leading Role.

By Ripley D. Saunders

Dramatic Critic of the Post-Dispatch, Who Is in New York Reviewing the Season's New Plays.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—"Twin Beds" I believe, quite generally conceded to be the funniest farce-comedy that has been produced in New York since "Baby Mine" first was seen some four or five years ago. I have just witnessed its performance at the Fulton Theater and find that it more than lives up to its reputation. It is funnier than "Baby Mine"—Margaret Mayo wrote both of them, assisted by Salisbury Field in the latest triumph—and while it has its [illegible] moments, it is not so offensive as was the travesty upon motherhood.

Madge Kennedy, who was so deliciously amusing in the title role of "Little Miss Brown," is the central figure of the "Twin Beds" story. She plays the part of young Mrs. Blanche Hawkins, who, innocently enough but in too gay a spirit, leads Harry Hawkins, her adoring husband, a swift and merry life in their New York apartment. She is unduly fond of entertaining the volatile bohemian set who constitute their apartment-house neighbors and she is especially flirtatious with a certain Italian grand opera tenor who punctuates his love affairs with an impassioned singing of the great tenor aria from "Pagliacci."

Out of Frying Pan Into Fire.

Tenor Monti's jealous and excruciatingly slangy American wife warns Harry Hawkins that, when he hears Monti warbling this "Pagliacci" strain, it will be the part of wisdom to "corral" Blanche and "duck" for parts unknown. So Harry Hawkins does "duck" at the sounding of this danger signal—to another apartment house where he has secretly engaged quarters. As the price of her consenting to move, Blanche exacts that he shall install twin beds in their bedroom, this being the latest up-to-date fad that has appealed to her petted and love-pampered soul.

And it so happens that the jealous Signora Monti also secretly has leased a new home for herself and the "temperamental" Monti in this same new apartment house. And it further happens one night, when Harry Hawkins has been tempted into an all night jollification at his club, that tenor Monti comes home—as he fondly believes—and retires into what he thinks is his own twin bed one floor above the Hawkins apartment. But he is gloriously "tanked" and makes a mistake in the floor—and it is in Harry Hawkins twin bed, but a few feet distant from Mrs. Harry Hawkins' twin bed that he sinks into the profound slumber of a thoroughly "soused" husband.

What happens thereafter is a lightning series of bewildering, most unexpected and most side-splitting complications that the fertile imagination of a clever farce writer possibly could devise.

Poor Signor Monti in this case is as innocent as the babe unborn, so to speak, and little Mrs. Hawkins is even more so, if such a sublimated state of innocence is conceivable, but they are the storm center of the fun all the same. The audience is kept rocking with laughter every moment—and not by any means the faintest explosion of mirth is that which greets the final disposition made of the twin beds in both the Hawkins and the Monti apartments.

The "big four" of this vastly diverting story are Madge Kennedy and John Westley as Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, and Paul Ker and Ray Cox as Signor and Signora Monti. They are admirable farceurs, and they maintain a fast and furious pace of irresistible absurdity from start to finish. Worthily associated with them as minor funmakers are Georgie Lawrence as Norah, the Hawkins maid, and Mabel Acker and John Cumberland as young Mr. and Mrs. Larkin, a pair of newlyweds who become more or less enmeshed in the web of the humorous entanglement that envelops the quartet of principals.

PLAYGOERS' GUIDE

"Today," Shubert. Powerful play in which a young wife's vanity leads on to tragedy. Presented by an exceedingly capable company.

"Billie Burke" in "Jerry," Olympic. A fun-making play full of Billie Burkisms of the kind that delight her admirers.

"Excuse Me," American. A farce dealing with the adventures of Pullman car passengers. A New York success, given a good presentation here.

"The Conspiracy," Park. A story of the underworld as seen from the office of a New York District Attorney.

"The Balkan Princess," Shenandoah. A musical comedy splendidly given. Scored a hit last week at the Park.

Vaudeville, Columbia. An attractive bill headed by Bickel and Watson. Mme. Jeanne Jomelli, dramatic soprano, and a clever company of dancers.

"The Love Club," Princess. Clean, lively burlesque. Unusual dancing features.

Vaudeville, Grand Opera House. Mlle. Irene's Circus heads a bill which includes many pleasing acts.

Vaudeville, Hippodrome. Powers' Elephants from the New York Hippodrome are the feature of a well-balanced bill.

"Girls From Laughland," Gayety. Burlesque with vaudeville, headed by the Handcuff King.

"Damaged Goods," Garrick. A strong photoplay.

"The Heiress and the Crook," Strand. Interesting photoplay.

"Little Gray Lady," New Grand Central. A Frohman success in photoplay.

Photoplay, Jumista.

SECOND OF TRAVEL TALKS

The Holy Land, especially that portion of it made sacred by the Old Testament, was the subject of the second of E. M. Newman's winter season, of travel talks at the Odeon last night. An unusually large number of clergymen of all faiths was in the audience.

Most interesting were the fine color views and moving pictures of Petra, a city cut from solid rock, which nearly 2000 years ago had a population of 750,000. This city was absolutely lost, except to tradition, until early in the nineteenth century, when explorers rediscovered and excavated it.

Last night's lecture covered the territory between Jaffa and Jerusalem. The Holy Land from Jerusalem to Baalbek will be the subject of next Thursday night's lecture.

The party was on the way to attend a Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Richard Melvin in Pleasant Ridge Township.

Mayor Burned in Smoker Fire Dies.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Henry S. Rich, Mayor of Berwyn, a fashionable residence suburb, died at a hospital last night of burns suffered Tuesday in an explosion of moving picture films in a smoking car on a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy passenger train. Thirty-seven others were painfully burned.

KANSAS HAS ONE TELEPHONE FOR EVERY FAMILY

Companies' Reports Show There Are 325,000 Stations in the State.

FENCES USED FOR LINES

Farmers Now Are Investing Proceeds of Their Wheat Crop in Automobiles.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 27.—Kansas has a telephone for every home and a motor car for every seventh home within its borders. It has rural mail service complete for 90 of the 105 counties, so that 94 per cent of the farmers get their mail at their door each day. The per capita wealth of the State is a little over $1600.

The Kansas telephone companies have just filed their annual reports with the Public Utilities Commission. This is the first time that Kansas has had any inkling as to the exact number of telephones there are in the State, as it was the first year that the companies were required to file the reports showing the exact number of telephones each company had in use June 30, 1914. There are a few more than 600 telephone companies and they have a total of a little more than 325,000 telephones in the homes and business houses of the State More than one-half of these telephones are in the country districts.

The total population of the State, March 1, was 1,672,106; so that here is a telephone for each five persons within the State. It is usually estimated that the average family consists of five persons, so here is a telephone for every family. Of course, this is not literally true, as there are many homes without telephones, but there are a few with two phones and many business houses have three to half a dozen lines.

The companies figure the telephones on the actual number of stations, and if a home or business house has an extension set with two or three instruments, but only one line connecting all of them, it is listed as one station. A firm with a private branch exchange may have 100 instruments, but only three trunk lines, and it is credited with three telephones. Each subscriber on a party line is listed as a separate telephone.

It is asserted by the Kansas Independent Telephone Association that no other state has so universal telephone service as has Kansas. A large majority of the 600 companies are mutual lines in the rural districts. Some of the mutual companies have several thousand subscribers and complete telephone equipment, even to reasonably extensive toll lines.

The service varies from the most up-to-date equipment to the oldest type of instruments connected with barbed wires used for fencing. Some of the ranches in the southwestern corner of the State have telephone plants of their own, and use one of the barbed wires of the ranch fences and the employes can get headquarters in almost any field.

Thus far in the fiscal year there have been 47,200 motor cars licensed in Kansas. This, of course, includes several hundred commercial trucks used in the cities, but most of the cars are family vehicles. Taking the same population figures as used in figuring the per capita telephones, it is found that there is a motor car in Kansas for every 34 persons. This is a little better than one car for each seven families, but if the commercial cars were entirely eliminated, it is estimated that the per capita motor car distribution would be just one for each seven families.

Kansas seems likely to cut down this per capita and have one motor car for each six families before the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, 1915. The motor car licenses are being recorded at the rate of nearly 100 a day, and have been during September and October. In one western county 16 cars were licensed in one day by farmers. All but two of these cars are listed at more than $1000 each.

Farmers who have sold their wheat are investing in motor cars, and those who haven't sold their wheat are giving chattel mortgages on the crop to buy cars. Checking the list of new licenses, shows that 93 per cent of the cars are bought by farmers.

HIGH WIND PERFORMS ROAD CLEANING TASK, SAVES COUNTY BIG SUM

Memphis Struck by 52-Mile Gale and Freezing Temperature After Balmy Spell.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 27.—Thousands of dollars that would have been spent by the County Commissioners to clean and improve the county turnpikes have been saved in an unusual manner. A high wind, which reached a velocity of 52 miles an hour, swept over this section, performing the task without bargain.

The wind, throughout the night, caught up dust and loose material, sweeping them to the roadsides and leveling all irregularities on the surface. When morning came the pikes were as smooth and clean as though swept with brooms and before traffic was resumed resembled paved streets after cleaning.

The windstorm itself was unusual. At 4:59 p. m. Memphis enjoyed summer weather. The temperature was 72 degrees. A minute later the gale had struck and the mercury was racing downward, reaching the freezing point a few hours later. Trees were uprooted in the suburbs by the wind, but no serious damage was reported.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER CONVICTED OF MURDER

Cook County (Ill.) Jury Reverses Usual Order of Freeing Women Slayers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The time-honored custom of Cook County juries of freeing all women brought to trial for murder was suddenly reversed when Mrs. Pasqualina Forte and her daughter, Anna, 17 years old, were convicted jointly with Mrs Forte's son, Pasquale, 21, of the murder of Antonio Morasco. The jury at a former trial of the three defendants had disagreed.

The second jury did not fix the punishment of the two women, which may run from one year to life. The son was sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary. Mrs. Forte and her daughter took the verdict stoically.

Morasco had become engaged to marry Anna Forte, who broke the agreement. Morasco called at the Forte home, 539 Hope street, to collect money he had loaned Mrs. Forte. A quarrel resulted, in which Mrs Forte and her daughter both fired several shots at Morasco before young Forte drove a hatchet into his skull. Self-defense was the plea.

Defender of Melon Patch Paroled.

BELLEVILLE, Kan., Nov. 27.—John W. Kuhn, farmer, accused of shooting and seriously wounding Ray Brown, a neighbor boy, last September while the latter, with several companions, were entering Kuhn's melon patch, has just been sentenced by Judge Hogin to one year in the county jail and the payment of all court costs. Kuhn having heretofore borne a good reputation, the Judge immediately paroled him.

2500 HORSES FOR WAR

Special Train Carries Animals for British and French.

Twenty-five hundred horses, bought for the French and British armies, were shipped out of the National Stockyards yesterday. One special train of 25 cars carried nothing but horses. Other cars of horses were coupled into other trains. Their destination was kept secret.

The European army agents have purchased more than 17,000 horses at the National Stockyards since the outbreak of hostilities. Their daily average purchase has increased this week. They are buying virtually all the horses on the market now. Some of the strict requirements are being abandoned in the anxiety to get more animals. All the purchases are surrounded with great secrecy. A watchman has been stationed at the entrance to the purchase pavilion with orders to bar all visitors, particularly newspapermen.

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 27.—Miss Margaret Crawford, formerly of Collinsville, Ill., was awarded $2000 damages against the Illinois Traction System by a jury in the Circuit Court here after a trial of three days.

She suffered an injury which resulted in complete atrophy of the muscles of her left arm. Miss Mullen became insane from the shock and died. Her conservator filed suit for $5000 against the traction company.

EXCOMMUNICATED MAN SUES PASTOR AND CHURCH

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 27.—Alexander B. Scott, who was excommunicated from the Grant Street Reformed Presbyterian Church here, has filed suit in the Common Pleas Court asking $30,000 damages from the pastor, the Rev. John B. Wilson, and members of the controlling board or "session."

He alleges that excommunication can only be imposed in cases where the member has been declared guilty of some heinous immorality or scandalous practice and that a person so excluded is held "to belong to the kingdom of Satan." He alleges he has not been guilty of any act or word that would warrant his excommunication and that he was not formally charged as required by the church rules.

He also alleges the church property is worth $200,000 and that his excommunication deprives him of an interest in it.

Suit Follows Street Car Accident.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Nov. 27.—Mrs Jennie B. James has brought suit against the Vicksburg Light and Traction Co. for $5000 for injuries suffered in the accident at Cherry Creek a few months ago. Many persons were hurt and alleged carelessness on the part of the company

16,500 HOGS RECEIVED

Hog receipts at the National Stockyards this morning were 16,500, the highest mark for several weeks. The market, therefore, promised to be rather slow. Cattle receipts were 5500, and 1500 sheep were received.

The cattle market apparently is recovering from last week's slump, and dealers predicted a slight advance. The market closed strong Wednesday, with medium steers selling at $7.50 per 100 pounds.

CAR ACCIDENT KILLS MAN

Iras Artinian, 30, of 1532 Converse avenue, East St. Louis, died yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital from a fracture of the skull, inflicted in a street car accident Wednesday night.

Neither the police nor the hospital had a report on the accident. Car company officials said Artinian jumped from a swiftly-moving Broadway car between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets.

One hundred young people of the Cherry Street Baptist Church, Alton, met at a sunrise prayer meeting yesterday and joined in the erection of the south wall for the new kindergarten department of the church.

ROLLA COULD NOT HOLD C. B. C. MEN, EDMUNDS BELIEVES

Piker Coach, Referee of Yesterday's Game, Says College Has Great Team.

PLAY ABSOLUTELY CLEAN

Washington U. Director of Athletics Commends Behavior of Ward's Stars.

Despite the fact that the 1914 football elevens of Christian Brothers' College and the Rolla School of Mines will not meet this fall for the State championship, there is one learned football critic in this town who is of the opinion that the gold and purple machine would defeat the miners hands down. This critic is William S. Edmunds, athletic director of Washington University.

Edmunds was referee in yesterday's contest between the C. B. C. and De Pauw teams, when the local men won, 48—0. He also coached an eleven that played against the Rolla team, was defeated by it and crippled by it. Edmunds ought to know. This is his statement after yesterday's annihilation:

"The C. B. C. football eleven is one of the best teams that I have seen in years. Undoubtedly the most formidable one that I have seen play this year. I think that it could defeat the Rolla Miners by more than one touchdown. The Missouri Tigers would be entirely unable to cope with it. I only wish that I had that bunch to coach in the Missouri Valley Conference. If I had, Washington would be near the top of the ladder, if not actually there."

Game Absolutely Clean.

Edmunds was enthused over the clean play. "I had heard," he said, "that the C. B. C. team played unnecessarily rough. It is not the truth. They play hard, but know what they are doing and never lose their heads. It was as clean a game as I have ever officiated."

He further said that the blocking of the linemen was nearly perfect. The forwards held their men or made gaping holes in the visitors' line with equal ease. The tackling was clean and hard. He commented that the team was very well coached.

The outstanding play of some individuals was also noticed by him. The manner in which the diminutive Nordoc Sacksteder ran with the ball, could not be overlooked by any one who witnessed the game. Edmunds said that he ran like Walter Eckersall. Eckersall was some runner, and this speaks well for the C. B. C. halfback. The Piker coach was also impressed with the college tackles.

C. B. C. Tackles Strong.

He said: "Tackles are, in these days of open play, a great asset, that is if they are good tackles. If you have a reliable pair who can break through their opponents' line there can be little interference. C. B. C. has a great pair of tackles. Walter Essman and Shank play first-class football. Essman is a defensive man while Shank is more aggressive. I think that Shank has a slight edge on Essman." It may be remembered that Coach Zuppke said that Walter Essman was probably as good a tackle as could be found in the Middle West.

Edmunds said that he could talk about the merits of the college 11 for hours but had to leave in order to get in on the cold turkey. He finished up with: "IT'S SOME FOOTBALL TEAM."

Homer Thomas, who was umpire of the game, went last week to see the Purdue-Indiana game, where he saw his alma mater, Purdue, win over the State school, 23 to 13. He had this to say, "C. B. C. could wallop the Indiana team, and could put up a mighty good scrap and not win from Purdue."

The Depauw team which was defeated by the local team, 48 to 0, held Indiana to a 13 to 6 score several weeks ago.

Tips and Cues

Welker Cochran averaged 33 1-3 and made a high run of 87, defeating Harry Cline, 300—185, in their balkline match at Bartlesville, Okla., last night. Cline averaged 14.

Koji Yamada proved easy for Ora Morningstar, 300—197, in their match at Richmond, Va., last night. Morningstar averaged 26 1-3 and clicked off a high run of 71.

Charley Peterson and John Horgan, local cue experts, will go to Kansas City next week to see the championship pool match between Benny Allen, the titleholder, and Maturo. There will be a meeting of billiard hall owners in Kay... to organize a protective league next week.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Old Man Dope Himself Again.

SHOWING remarkable vitality, Old Man Dope, after being sent to the he'll-never-get-over-it ward of the hospital, following his memorable collision with the baseball season, has completely recovered the use of all his faculties.

It is expected that he'll be entirely fit for his annual go against the major league baseball stuff next year, hoping that some day he'll have the national game where he wants it.

Dope showed his hand during the football season just closed. Despite a few surprises he pointed out that "form" was the thing in the great college game, which now is one of science and skill, and not of chance.

The hazardous features, long feared in connection with the "open" game, seem to have been minimized to such an extent that the best eleven can still be sure of winning.

* * *

How Dope Fared Thursday.

TO prove his theory Dope again tried to name the winners of important games, Thursday. Of 13 contests "form" came through as indicated in 11. In one game the team named as the loser won by a single point. The lone real failure was the selection of Syracuse to defeat Notre Dame. The Syracuse giants have been cut down gradually by a tremendous schedule which culminated only last Saturday in a terrific lacing handed out by the great Dartmouth aggregation.

Only One Real Upset.

Dope pulled a barry when he overlooked the fact that no eleven could recover in five days from a clash of that consequence.

* * *

THUS, in the past three weeks, or since Dope has felt he was able to be on the job, form came out victorious in 32 out of 37 games, and of the five failures two were tied games, one was lost by one point, one was an oversight by Old Man Dope and only one genuine upset of form resulted.

That came when Cornell defeated the Michigan eleven, just after the Yost machine had held Harvard to a 7—0 score.

How, in view of the success of "football form," some of the experts find justification for calling the present football campaign a "season of surprises" seems hard to answer.

* * *

Acker Surpassed.

FRANK ACKER, ever since 1907, has been remembered by local football fans as probably the best backfield runner that played for a St. Louis eleven. After watching the work of 19-year-old Norbert Sacksteder, Mr. Acker fades into a memory.

Sacksteder may not be the best halfback that ever played in this city, but whoever watches him sift through a field of opponents will be certain not to leave him off his all-city, all-state or perhaps all-national eleven. Sacksteder is without doubt the best open field runner that ever got by without the use of a straight arm. Twisting and swaying, he oozes out of traps and corners like quicksilver from beneath the thumb. It takes eleven men to drive him to earth and even then the enemy is not always certain to do the trick.

It's worth the price of admission to see this fast and tricky player get down the field, with the breathless enemy scurrying frantically to close all the outlets ahead of his shifty feet.

* * *

C. B. C. Has Fair Team.

AFTER watching the college eleven work but once, it may be taking snap judgment to say that the eleven is far from being flawless. But so it seemed to the writer.

Against Depauw it exhibited fatal faults—ones that would beat the purple and gold if opposed by an eleven of nearly equal strength, minus the same shortcomings.

C. B. C. handled the ball raggedly, for one thing, and was slow in starting plays whose merit seemed to consist largely in the quickness with which the surprise was sprung.

It is an eleven with a lot of native strength and a good defense and would today probably hold Illinois to a better score than it did when it met the Illini, early in the season, 37—0.

Depauw is not much of an eleven. Indiana defeated it by a touchdown or two, and Illinois beat Indiana, 51—0, early in the season, when it was not after a big score record.

On form a C. B. C.-Rolla game would be close, with both teams having many friends. Too bad that this contest is not staged.

Ban B. Urges Mack to Trade Two Players for Pitcher Caldwell

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A baseball trade between the New York and Philadelphia (American League) clubs involving Ray Caldwell of the Yankees and Rube Oldring and Jack Lapp of the Athletics is under consideration, according to reports published here today.

President Ban B. Johnson of the American League is said to have urged Connie Mack, while on a recent visit East, to arrange the deal with the double purpose of saving Caldwell from the Federal League, with which he is reported to have signed for next season and of strengthening the New York club for the good of the circuit.

INNISFAILS EASILY WIN FROM GILLESPIE ELEVEN

The Innisfails, under Willie Foley's management, easily defeated the Gillespie (Ill.) team yesterday afternoon at Robison Field, 4—1. In the opening game the North Ends defeated the West Ends, 2—0, in an abbreviated show. Sunday, in this league, the Innisfails play the Teresas for first place, while the Columbus Club tackles the Manewals.

Nothing to Mar Soldan's Claim to Interscholastic Football Laurels

Soldan High School reclaimed the local scholastic football championship after yesterday's defeat of the McKinley eleven, and for one more year the "prep" gridiron gonfalon will wave in the halls of the West End institution. The Soldan eleven went through its 1914 season sweeping aside all opponents.

The eleven built up by Coach A. O. Kelley was formed around a nucleus of two regulars and three substitutes of the 1913 team. Walsh, a tackle, and Swingley, logically a fullback but this year forced into quarterback, were the only performers who played regularly last year. Morrison, Davis and Dawson until this season were scrubs. With these conditions, Coach Kelley built up a strong team. He could not depend upon individual work, simply because there were no individual stars.

It was team work that put the West End team on the top of the high school ladder. The interference that won fame for last year's team was again in evidence. A wonderful secondary defense that made open play of the opposing team almost useless to attempt, were some of the departments in which Soldan really excelled.

Two Elevens Have Better Men.

There are two football teams in the circle that possessed better individual material than Soldan—Central and McKinley. Yeatman also had several stars in the making. However, the old theory that individual play cannot hope to cope with teamwork was again in evidence.

At other angles of the game, the season was very successful, even more so than that of last year. From a financial standpoint, all schools virtually reaped a harvest. The Soldan games with McKinley and Central drew, outside of the Washington-St. Louis contest, the largest football crowds of the season. The Yeatman, Smith and Manual coffers also are filled as a result of the large crowds.

Another feature of the season was the fact that no player suffered.

Another bright spot of the season's play was the few injuries. Last year Dover of Soldan was put out of the game for the rest of the year, when he suffered a shattered kneecap in the second game, and Leary of McKinley received a fractured collar bone in the same game. Alvin Baum of Manual had an attack of water on the knee, besides these many other players suffered more than slight injuries. However, this season the hurts were fewer. Don Snyder injured his leg and Tex Shanley received a broken nose. Outside of these the season was void of mishaps.

There also was a decided falling off of the bad spirit that was shown in several of last year's games. In 1913 the officials were forced to put out a number of players because of their conduct. This year the spirit took a change for the better.

CLARKE NARROWLY AVERTS KNOCKOUT IN KIRKWOOD BOUT

Local Featherweight Star Sends Opponent Wobbling to Corner in Fourth Round.

HOW BOUTS RESULTED

GEORGE KIRKWOOD of the S. B. A. C. vs. Joe Clarke of Wilkesbarre, Pa., eight rounds, weight 124 pounds at 10 a. m.—Kirkwood the winner on points.

Jimmy Murphy of the S. B. A. C. vs. Tommy Gerity of Memphis, Tenn., eight rounds at 115 pounds—Murphy the winner by knockout in third round.

Joe Mik of the S. B. A. C. vs. Lou Nauman, eight rounds at 123 pounds—Mik the winner on points.

By Harry S. Sharpe,

Referee of the Future City A. C. and the Post-Dispatch's Boxing Authority.

George Kirkwood of the South Broadway Athletic Club flashed some of his old-time form and speed yesterday afternoon in the club's arena and gave Joe Clarke of Wilkesbarre, Pa., a beating.

Kirkwood out-boxed his opponent, was much faster and out-generaled Clarke from start to finish. He beat Clarke at everything except at roughing, and there was plenty of that done by both.

At times the bout resembled a street fight and Referee Tommy Sullivan had an extremely hard and disagreeable time of it trying to keep the boxers within at least reasonable restrictions.

Sullivan Warns Boxers.

Sullivan several times stopped the bout long enough to warn the boxers to desist from these rough-and-tumble methods under penalty of disqualification, but it had little effect. One was just as guilty as the other, and the bout went on with Sullivan doing his best to make them box fairly.

Kirkwood was a little slow to start. He cut loose in earnest in the third round and punished Clarke severely with hard left hooks to face and body, varying this with uppercuts and crosses to the jaw with his right. Clarke was trying hard all this time to land his wallop and apparently gave little heed to the punches handed him by Kirkwood, though he emerged from this round with his right eye nearly closed.

Close Call for Clarke.

Clarke narrowly escaped being put away for good in the fourth round, and had the punch which started him on Queer Street been delivered earlier, Clarke surely would have lost his way and not come back. When the gong sounded calling him home, Clarke started in the general direction of his corner, but he wobbled a whole lot while getting there and owes the fact that he arrived there at all to his wonderful strength.

His trouble was started by a hard right clip directly to the point of his left jaw about the middle of the round. This put him down, but he bounced right up again, and Kirkwood went at him like a famished catamount.

Before Clarke had time to recover, he was dealt a terrific right punch to the stomach, and from that time on to the end of the round it took a lot of grit to hold out. He just groped his way through a perfect storm of right and left swings until called to shelter in his corner by the bell.

Kirkwood Plays Safe.

Having failed to put away his game little opponent in the preceding round, but evidently realizing he was winning, Kirkwood now resorted to methods which lay him less liable to injury by mixing with Clarke, as the latter is dangerous, even when appearing weak.

In the seventh round Kirkwood looked bad for a brief spell, when Clarke got him in a corner and landed hard long-arm left and right swings. Had Clarke been near enough to crook his arms a bit these blows might have won the battle for him, for they landed flush on the unprotected jaws of his opponent. Kirkwood's fast footwork carried him out of danger. Clarke followed around, trying to land more hard swings, but was made to miss.

Clarke Finishes Well.

The eighth round belonged to Clarke, principally, I think, because Kirkwood was satisfied to leave well enough alone, as he could only lose now by being knocked out.

It was announced that both boxers were under the required weight of 124 pounds when they scaled at 10 a. m.

Jack Johnson Going South.

Jack Johnson is on his way to South America, according to reports from London, to do his training for the Willard fight in Argentina.

Johnson will need all the work he can get between now and March 17 to restore himself to condition. He will be 37 years old next March, and that's the fateful age at which Fitzsimmons lost his title. And Fits stood off Father Time longer than any other fighter of consequence in history.

Johnson also meets McVey and Langford after his Willard go, provided he survives, and will need to be sound from head to heel to get by these tough nuts.

CHRISTMAS is only a "merry hike" away. Hurry up and buy HER diamond on credit at Loftis Bros. & Co., 2d floor, 308 N. 6th.

SPORT SALAD BY L. C. DAVIS

Footballitis.

THE shades of night were falling fast,
As through the city streets there passed
A youth, who through a megaphone
Was shouting in a thunderous tone:
"Rah! Rah!"

I stopped and asked him to explain
The meaning of his glad refrain.
He lamped me with a fishy eye,
And only made me this reply:
"Rah! Rah!"

I gave the lad the double O
And told him I would like to know
The meaning of his little joke,
And why that everlasting croak:
"Rah! Rah!"

No explanation did he make,
Nor eke the slightest interest take;
And as I muttered "whathell!"
Once more I heard that raucous yell:
"Rah! Rah!"

I quickly hailed an ambulance,
Resolved to take no further chance;
And ere he swiftly whirled away,
He paused just long enough to say:
"Rah! Rah!"

They laid him gently on a cot,
And operated on the spot;
And as he underwent the knife
He faintly chirped: "This IS the life!
"Rah! Rah!"

The Pot and the Kettle.

The present controversy between the forces of organized ball and the Federal League has developed some amusing and peculiar angles. But the thing that offers the greatest menace to a split lip is to hear an American League magnate refer to the Federal League as "outlaws."

The next funniest thing is to see Ban Johnson putting the onus of the scrap on the shoulders of the poor old National League. Not satisfied with having licked the tar out of the parent body, Johnson now proposes to make the p. b. fight his battles for him.

There is talk of Ping Bodie going to Milwaukee in the deal that will bring "Happy" Felch to the White Sox. Guess "Ping" wouldn't die of a broken heart if he were sent to Milwaukee. It will be remembered that Mr. Bodie once paid something like $60 for a glass of beer right here in St. Louis.

Miners Break Training; No Chance for Game With C. B. C.

Much Sought Contest Now Seems Off

Victors in Local Thanksgiving Day Struggles Wanted to Settle the Missouri State Championship in Post-Season Battles; Rolla Faculty Objects, Too.

By W. J. O'Connor.

THERE'LL be no game between Christian Brothers College and the Rolla School of Mines this season, if we accept the word of Coach Saunders of the Miners as final.

"My team broke training last night besides breaking a few bones yesterday afternoon," declared Saunders at the American Hotel. "Copley suffered a fractured nose while Jack Imlay splintered his cheek bone and my men are not in shape for a game with C. B. C.

"This game could not be played with the sanction of our faculty, moreover, and if Rolla competed, it would be as an independent team. There was some talk of staging it on this basis, but the Miners fractured all training rules last night, so I guess all bets are off. We go home today."

With this curt statement all hope of bringing the two best teams in the State together vanished. C. B. C. lost only one game, that to Illinois. The Rolla squad rolled up touchdowns galore, in numbers a multitude, this season, against a grand collection of goose eggs for all opponents. According to Saunders the aggregate score of the Miners to date is 539 to 0, and not 544, as stated.

Miners Keep Record Safe.

It was because of the desire to keep this inviolate record intact that the Miners in the last quarter against St. Louis U. yesterday made such heroic and incidentally successful effort to block a drop kick by Arthur Thomas, the gamest bird on the Billiken team. When Thomas was set for the kick the entire Rolla line leaped over their adversaries and succeeded in frustrating the try at goal.

Along the blazed trail of Rolla's grand march to the State championship are strewn the scalps of Missouri, Washington, Arkansas, St. Louis U. and many minor teams.

The closest shave the Rolla juggernaut has had was a 9—0 victory over Missouri early in the season. Since then, life has been one touchdown after another for the Miners.

St. L. U. Game Rough.

Yesterday's game at St. Louis U. campus, though, was the fiercest farce ever staged. The claret flowed freely and Referee Connett, who was impartially exact, frequently penalized heavily for rough playing, but unlike most one-sided games the fight was furious, because St. Louis U. refused to take its spanking without a comeback.

Some of the play was wicked. In the fag end of the second period little Arthur Thomas, who stood out among the Billiken boys like a German howitzer among a discarded pile of rusty hammer-lock muskets, punted a high, twisting spiral to Jack Imlay, the phantom halfback of the Miners. Imlay set himself for the catch, eyes on the descending ball. When he received the pigskin, Big Coulter, the tallest lineman on the Billiken team, then rammed him amidship. The dull thud of the collision palled on the crowd. There was a moan from the spectators and a heavy silence as Imlay dropped limp on his back. His face was cut open below the eye. He dropped the ball, and it was three minutes before he was able to walk off the field.

Coulter's play wasn't foul. Coulter isn't a finished football product and he knows not how to tackle. However, he has sufficient instinct to "spill his man." He did the best he could, merely plowing into Imlay with all his 190 pounds and 6 feet 2. He literally knocked Imlay out of the lineup, but withal, the game little halfback reappeared later, bandaged and dizzy.

Rolla Becomes Vicious.

This play engendered a desire on the part of Rolla to rough it, and for the remainder of the game the play was spicy. But withal it was no rougher, according to some folks who have seen Yale and Princeton and Harvard and Dartmouth than many Eastern games. It was vicious and mostly fair.

The game was unusual, in that St. Louis U., although swamped, 63—0, frequently made substantial gains.

Arthur Thomas, who surely is in line for the Billiken captaincy next season, played a remarkable game. Time and again he slipped through, almost unaided, and made first downs. He punted well, and without him the score might have been 630—0. He's a star.

But the final facts are that St. Louis U. showed considerable strength on the offense, although being absolutely hopeless on the defense. This is a trait in green teams. They have the ability to run, but can't stop the other fellows running.

The Rolla team, even without Bland and Houston, is a powerful machine. Copley and Freeman are 200-pounders who run fast and high and cannot be bothered by 150-pound tacklers such as Thomas, Conners and Opp or Gross. Once Freeman ran squarely into Gross, knocked him endwise, then galloped gaily into Thomas' arms, kicked him aside and lumbered across the goal line for a touchdown. It was almost pathetic.

Imlay a Real Star.

Imlay's play, before he was hurt, provoked rounds of applause from a hostile crowd. The last time he was seen here was on a wet field in the Washington U. game. He could do nothing. Yesterday on a fast field he ran further and faster and longer than any man seen at St. Louis U. campus this season.

The writer saw the first half of the Billiken game and the second half of the C. B. C.-De Pauw battle. In our opinion there is little to choose between Imlay and Sacksteder. Both are marvels at open field running, artful dodgers and speed demons, but neither use the stiff arm. Imlay can run a shade faster than Sacksteder, but he isn't quite as elusive. But he's taller, rangier and runs higher. They would have to be pitted against each other to prove that either is superior.

But our idea of the best running backfield ever seen in the West would be Imlay and Sacksteder with Freeman at fullback. To stop this combination one would need a stone wall, with steel supports and maybe that wouldn't endure under their continued battering. They're hardly human, these galloping ghosts.

C. B. C. Season Loser Financially; Receipts Yesterday Were $2700

ARTISTICALLY a howling success, but financially a failure, is one way of summing up the football season at Christian Brothers' College. Yesterday's game with Depauw attracted a crowd of over 3200, but there was considerable "paper" and the net receipts were $2700. Of this the visitors took 50 per cent. This leaves a deficit of upwards of $2000 in the C. B. C. athletic treasury.

The C. B. C.-Depauw game bucked a stronger counter attraction yesterday in the Rolla-St. Louis U. conflict, but managed to outdraw the rival show, in numbers, about 3200 to 1800. However, the biggest crowd of the day turned out for the McKinley-Soldan battle in the morning, when about 4500 reported. The high school game was a 50-cent gate against a $1 show at both parks in the afternoon.

Conservative estimates of the attendance at all the games yesterday combined would be slightly less than 10,000.

McCarty and Levinsky Draw.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Tom McCarty of Lewiston, Mont., fought a fast 10-round draw with Battling Levinsky in Brooklyn yesterday. McCarty weighed 180 pounds and Levinsky scaled five pounds less. McCarty proved to be a fast and willing two-handed fighter, and he was on the aggressive nearly all the time. Levinsky's experience and clever blocking saved him from punishment, but McCarty had the better of the go.

At another Brooklyn club, Soldier Bartfield, a local welterweight, held Jack Britton of Chicago to a 10-round draw. Tom Gibbons of St. Paul stopped Billy Glover of Boston in six rounds at a Bronx club.

Murray Rocks Petroskey to Sleep.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—"Fighting Billy" Murray knocked out "Sailor" Ed Petroskey here yesterday in the second round of what was to have been a 20-round bout. The result was a surprise, for Petroskey was considered one of the most durable middleweights in his division and was never knocked out before except by George Chip, who in turn has two knockouts to his credit against Murray.

Saylor and Wagner Draw.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 27.—Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis and Billy Wagner of Chicago boxed 10 rounds to a draw here yesterday. Saylor was the aggressor.

Easy Money for Champ Welsh.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Freddie Welsh of Wales, lightweight champion, outpointed Young Brown of New York in a 10-round bout here last night.

Vanderbilt Loses Tough Game.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 27.—Failure to kick a goal from touchdown resulted yesterday in Vanderbilt's defeat by Sewanee, 14 to 13. Both Vanderbilt touchdowns were made in the last quarter on forward passes.

FLOORED 4 TIMES, LANGFORD KNOCKS OUT HARRY WILLS

Tar Baby Gets Surprise of His Life at Start of the Los Angeles Bout.

Sam Langford received the surprise of his 28 years' existence, yesterday afternoon, in the first two rounds of his bout with Harry Wills, a negro heavyweight from New Orleans.

Shortly after the start of their advertised 20-round journey at Los Angeles, Wills bounced a heavy one off Sam's jaw and put him down. Sam got up leisurely and was put down again. He weathered the storm and was giving almost as much as he received, according to dispatches.

In the second round Harry again hammered the tough Langford to the floor in give-and-take exchanges. Langford injured his ankle when he fell to the floor, in a break-away, and this affected his footwork for a while. Later the sprain worked out and when he got going, Samuel outgeneraled his heavy opponent and worked him into the correct receivership position in the fourteenth round. A left to Wills' mouth wound up the hopes of that party.

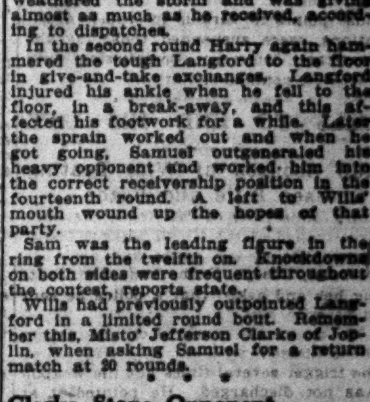

Sam was the leading figure in the ring from the twelfth on. Knockdowns on both sides were frequent throughout the contest, reports state.

Wills had previously outpointed Langford in a limited round bout. Remember this, Misto' Jefferson Clarke of Joplin, when asking Samuel for a return match at 20 rounds.

Clarke Stops Opponent.

Incidentally, the same Jefferson Clarke won a battle at Juarez yesterday. According to a wire from Jimmy Bronson, the Fighting Ghost's manager, Clarke knocked out Young Jack Johnson in the third round of their scheduled 20-round contest at Juarez. Who Young Jack Johnson may be is not known here. He was out for six minutes after Jeff hit him.

$250 SUIT MONEY FOR MRS. OLA E. KLEPPER

Court Refuses to Make Amount $1000 for Her Defense in Divorce Action.

Judge Grimm today refused to make an order in favor of Mrs. Ola E. Klepper of 5096 Minerva avenue against her husband, Harry I. Klepper, a capitalist, for $1000 to defray her expenses in fighting his divorce suit.

Mrs. Klepper and her counsel represented to the Court that since she and the plaintiff separated last June private detectives in the employ of her husband have followed her in search of evidence. An affidavit against her has been obtained by one of the detectives, her lawyer said. The lawyer declared that he hoped to employ detectives to investigate the methods used by Klepper's detectives.

Mrs. Klepper also demanded an allowance of $150 a month for her support pending trial of the suit. Klepper's lawyer, S. M. Bass, who admitted that his client was worth $150,000, resisted both applications.

The Court allowed $250 suit money, saying it could be increased later if necessary, and $100 a month maintenance, which amount, it was stated, Klepper has been paying to his wife since their separation.

He Was a Native St. Louisan and Had Lived in Washington Since 1912.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Rear-Admiral Wells L. Field, retired, 69 years old, died here today after a lingering illness. He was a native of St. Louis, Mo.

Wells Laflin Field was born in St. Louis, Jan. 31, 1846. He was the son of Matthew D. and Clarissa Laflin Field. He was graduated from Annapolis in 1867 and was promoted to the rank of ensign in 1868. He married Ruth Dunning Clark of Bennington, Vt., in 1894. He retired from the navy in 1902 and since then had lived in Washington.

FAILS TO END HIS LIFE

Man Accused of Wife Beating Uses Rifle and Razor.

Mrs. Julia Roth of 3532 North Eleventh street called at the North Market Street Police Station last night and said her husband, Joseph Roth, had been beating her and asked that a police be sent home with her.

The policeman found Roth trying to shoot himself with a rifle. He pulled the trigger several times but the weapon was not discharged. He pointed it at the policeman, who took it from him. Roth then obtained a razor and cut his throat slightly. He was taken to the city hospital.

DIVORCE PAPERS SERVED AT THANKSGIVING FEAST

Woman Accused by Edwardsville Banker's Son of Friendship With Football Player.

Mrs. Edmund Keller of Edwardsville was just finishing Thanksgiving dinner yesterday at the home of her father, Thomas Waugh at Poag, when a deputy sheriff called to serve her with papers in a suit for divorce. Her husband charges her with being too friendly with E. L. McCracken, a telephone lineman, living in Edwardsville.

McCracken, at the time the papers were served, was playing upon the Edwardsville "Tiger" eleven, which defeated Carterville for the Southern Illinois football championship, 25 to 0. Keller, who brought the suit, is a son of E. A. Keller, a director of the Citizens State Bank of Edwardsville, and owner of a hardware store there.

LIQUIDATION OF FOREIGN BONDS IS NOT LIKELY

London Bankers Think Opening of Stock Exchange Is Well Timed.

Tickers Will Carry Actual Sales in Bonds.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Stock Exchange announced that the plans for restricted trading in bonds, which will be resumed tomorrow, had been revised to permit actual transactions being printed on the tickers. It had previously been the plan of the exchange to have prices and transactions distributed to brokers by printed slips. The committee of five, it was expected, would make some announcement regarding minimum prices during the course of the day.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Most of the interesting developments of the day had to do with the careful preparations to resume bond trading on the Stock Exchange tomorrow. This being much the most important move made by the exchange since the war began, interest naturally centered in the provisions for preventing heavy selling by Europe, and the limitations placed upon the dealings between buyers and sellers in this country.

"All the safeguards taken could not be made public, but the indications were that they would be entirely adequate, and that the test would prove successful. The quotations will be sent over the tickers as usual.

"There were signs that investors would give out some large buying orders, and that the extent of these purchases would be quite surprising to those who have looked only for liquidation to follow up the resumption of exchange business, even on a restricted scale.

"The experiment will be watched with the greatest interest, and if it works well, it will have important bearing upon sentiment, not only in this market, but elsewhere in the United States.

"By fixing minimum prices the governing committee has made it impossible for holders to make offerings at large concessions, even if they should be inclined to do so. If the prices now ruling in the outside market may be taken as a criterion, however, it is fair to assume that many issues will show an advancing tendency.

Bank Board a Strong One.

"The selection of Mr. Morgan as the member of the Federal Advisory Council from the New York district excited much interest. It shows that the council is going to be a strong adjunct of the new banking system and that it will exercise an influence second only to that of the Federal Reserve Board itself. By appointing strong men on this board, it will be possible for the directors of the regional banks to fortify the new banking system and to insure the success of the council as a body of great dignity and usefulness.

"This result could not have been achieved as well by appointing the governors of the regional banks' membership into the council as was at first proposed. Such a course has been followed in one or two districts where there were special reasons why the governors should serve their banks in the two-fold capacity. But had such designations been general, it is apparent that the Federal Advisory Council could never have been the representative body of outside bankers that the law clearly intended to provide.

"As soon as the other members are appointed, the council will organize and arrange for an early meeting in Washington, where it is to confer with the Federal Reserve Board at least four times a year. There happens to be a great many subjects just now which could be profitably considered at such a joint conference, dealing with 'general business conditions' which the law specially empowers the council to take up.

"The council has a work to perform which is different from that entrusted to the Federal Reserve Board, but nevertheless very important. It is evident that membership on this council will be much sought after, although no salary is attached to the office, and the probability is that the members will have a good deal of difficult work.

Cotton Pool in Operation.

"Announcement that the cotton loan fund would be ready to consider loans to applicants next Tuesday shows that the $135,000,000 pool is virtually in operation, after many weeks of preparation. None of the relief plans attempted since the war broke out has been as difficult to put through as has this ingenious scheme to make advances on cotton, at terms involving participation in each loan by the Southern banks themselves.

"The South has never been very enthusiastic over the proposal, and it remains to be seen how the plan will work out. But it has had the support of strong interests which will do what they can to promote its success.

"If the decline in money rates continues, it is probable that the large banks will be glad to conclude the deals looking toward the placing of important temporary loans for the account of various foreign movements. These propositions are in most cases very attractive, and although only a few of the loans have been offered publicly, a good many have been parceled out by the original lenders between other institutions, which have been glad to take them.

"It is evident that this lending will continue for some time, as the borrowers are making large purchases of foodstuffs and army supplies in this country. The buying of supplies by France, England and Russia has been quite extraordinary, and the movement is still in progress.

"All this is having important bearing upon our foreign trade position, which is showing constant improvement. The indications are that this improvement will progress, and that it will go a long way towards bringing about normal conditions in the foreign exchange market again.

"All the goods thus bought by the belligerent nations are being shipped abroad as fast as they can be manufactured at short notice.

"There is other foreign buying of merchandise here, which bids fair to reach considerable magnitude, and result in the establishment of valuable trade relations with countries which have previously done little buying in the United States.

Notes Are Well Bought.

"The demand for short-term securities is broad enough to keep quotations near the high level of the year, although much of the inquiry has been for the best municipal issues.

"Success of the New York City offerings will probably lead other cities to put out notes later on, if the market by that time is not broad enough to justify the sale of long-term bonds.

"Because of the very large maturities of short-term loans next year, it would not be surprising if some of the borrowers should determine to float the longer-term securities.

"The banks showed a loss of $10,000,000 of cash for the week, due chiefly to the large payments to the Subtreasury in connection with various operations. The statement of a week ago indicated a loss of $700,000 to all quarters.

This attracted little attention, however, in view of the large bank surplus that the Clearing House institutions now show.

"The Western grain markets reflected heavy liquidation, and there was a decline of 3½d in the price of wheat at Liverpool. The crop news was indicative of a larger exportable surplus in the Argentine.

"The Bank of Germany reported a gain of $32,000,000 in gold holdings during the week, but it was difficult to compare this figure with those of the previous week, owing to the various new items which have been introduced.

"The English bank did not make as strong a showing as a week ago, the loan account showing $21,060,000 expansion. The feature was the decrease of $1,041,000 in gold holdings, which was the first decrease with one exception since the war began.

"The percentage of reserve to liabilities was reduced to 31.60, as compared with 34.04 last week. A year ago this week the percentage was 54⅝."

COTTON MARKET FIRM ON FOREIGN BUYING

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—It was the first December notice day in the official cotton market, but according to early estimates not more than 700 bales were issued and after opening steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 1 point, the market developed considerable firmness.

Houses with foreign connections appeared to have buying orders, while there was covering by December and May shorts, with prices selling about 3 to 7 points net higher shortly after the call.

Heavy exports from New Orleans yesterday probably helped the early market, while the small notices were a bullish factor on the near months, and there was spot house buying of May.

The market continued very steady during the middle of the day and prices ruled about 5 to 10 points net higher on further covering and a moderate trade demand. Local brokers said they found it easier to execute orders, which suggested a somewhat broader market than earlier in the week.

December was relatively firm during the afternoon on a continued demand from shorts and spot interests with the general list ruling about 6 to 12 points net higher. The close was steady.

Spot cotton quiet; middling upland, 7.75c. No sales.

Wheat futures dropped nearly 2c a bushel in the local market in the first 15 minutes of trading today. Liverpool cables quoted 3½d lower and estimates by Broomhall that the exportable surplus in Argentina will total 144,000,000 bu caused the selling.

Shortly after the opening the rumor was freely circulated that the Liverpool cable was faked, and a sharp recovery in prices took place. The advance failed to hold, however. Prices dropped an extreme of 2¾c in the late session, despite heavy export sales of both wheat and flour. The close was at the low point of the day.

Aside from the foreign news, developments were fairly bullish. Winnipeg received only 596 cars of wheat, against 413 last week and 1711 last year. Minneapolis had 874 (two days), against 241, and 531. Duluth, 662, against 351 and 713. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 250,000 bu for the week.

December wheat opened 1½c lower at $1.10½, rallied to $1.10⅝, then sold at $1.10, with a recovery to $1.10⅛. May wheat started 1⅝c off at $1.17, gained to $1.17⅝, only to lose to $1.16½@1.16⅝ asked with a rally to $1.16¾ bid.

Corn futures were weak along with wheat. The weather map was favorable, but chances favored a change to bad weather in St. Louis territory. Cables were 1¼d lower early, and receipts slightly overran the estimates. Oats were easy in sympathy with corn.

December corn opened ½c lower at 62⅞c, sold at 62⅝c, then had 62¾c asked; May lost ½c on an opening of 69@68¾c, sold at 68⅝c, then had 68⅝c bid. May oats were ⅜c lower on offers at 51⅞c; December ⅜c off at 47⅛c asked. Corn and oats closed easy at rather wide declines.

Local wheat receipts for two days totaled 213,600 bu, against 156,029 bu last year. Corn 63,400 bu, against 55,470. Oats 137,700 bu, against 105,400 bu.

Liverpool wheat closed 3½d lower; corn, ⅜d lower than yesterday's close.

The Modern Miller says: "Dry weather prevails throughout the greater part of the winter wheat belt, but only in Western Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma have reports indicated probable damage. In Kansas weather conditions are not as favorable as usual at this season. Northern Texas, Oklahoma, and Pennsylvania have had rains. In general, the crop was seeded under favorable conditions and will stand much fall drouth. There is a tendency in some quarters to overestimate the acreage."

New York wired: "Believe a good export business has been accomplished in wheat today in all positions. Understand cargo of 25 loads has been worked. A lot of oats has been sold and some reports of a fair business in corn."

Crop Expert B. W. Snow says: "The inconsistency of the Argentine estimate of wheat surplus forwarded through Broomhall is apparent on its face. With a crop of 200,000,000 bu and an exportable surplus of 144,000,000 bu, it follows that only 56,000,000 bu is left for home use. The seed on 16,000,000 acres requires 28,000,000 bu, so only 28,000,000 bu is left for domestic consumption of 8,000,000 people. Last year the final official estimate, made in April, 1914, was a crop of 114,000,000 bu, and the exports have been about 37,000,000 bu. Records for a series of years show that 70,000,000 to 80,000,000 bu are used at home. There certainly appears something requiring explanation in the 144,000,000 bu surplus estimate given currency by Broomhall."

Total primary wheat receipts were 2,007,000 bu, against 1,641,000 bu last year. Shipments 1,276,000 bu, against 1,442,000 bu.

Clearances: Wheat, 1,106,000 bu, corn 47,000, oats 473,000, flour 120,000. Wheat and flour 1,546,000.

Cash wheat was 1c lower on soft and hard in sympathy with futures.

Cash corn steady, moisture test and quality considered.

Cash oats ½c to ¾c lower on white grades; mixed, nominal.

Broomhall cables: "The wheat market was under the influence of free secondhand offers with the undertone heavy. Spot market easy and cargoes offered and sold at 3d to 6d decline, with arrivals here liberal and the general demand dull. Favorable weather and crop advices from Argentina and India and the increase estimated on the Argentine crop caused the heaviness. The official estimate on Argentine seems very high and exceed all other estimates received. Corn was weak, with declining spot and free cargo offers at 6d decline. Argentine weather is favorable and Plate offers liberal."

WEAKER CABLES CAUSE FALL IN CHICAGO WHEAT

Large Argentine Crop Helps the Sellers—Corn Also Is Easier.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Unexpected sharp declines at Liverpool caused a heavy setback today in wheat prices here. The bearish sentiment in Great Britain was attributed to surprising estimates of the Argentine crop, one authority putting the yield as high as 200,000,000 bushels, and the exportable surplus at 140,000,000 bushel.

Much selling resulted in Chicago and there was no solid support until the break amounted to 2¼c a bushel. Opening prices, which were ⅝@⅞c to 2⅛c lower, were followed by a further drop and then a rally of about 1c from the low point that preceded.

Corn fell with wheat. Scantiness of offers from the country tended, however, to act as an offset. After starting ⅜@⅝c to 1⅛c to 1¼c down, quotations recovered nearly all of the loss.

Notwithstanding that oats reflected the weakness of other cereals, there was no general unloading. Some signs of export buying developed.

Provisions eased off a little, influenced by the course of grain. The best demand was from packers.

Big primary receipts tended afterward to renew depression. The close was weak, 2⅝c to 3⅛c net lower.

In later dealings, the market continued to show resistance to selling pressure. The close, however, was weak, at ⅝c to ⅞c net decline.

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. McCARDELL.

Mrs. Jarr Fights a Verbal Duel With Her Very Dearest Enemy.

DIDN'T you say something to Mr. Smith as to how well Jack Silver was looking?" asked Mrs. Jarr when Mr. Jarr returned to her and informed her of his employer being held under the belief that he was there for the purpose of accepting a better position from a rival firm.

"Why, no," Mr. Jarr replied. "I was so surprised at getting a raise of salary instead of getting discharged that I never thought of Jack Silver."

"You said your employer had asked us all to dinner," Mrs. Jarr went on. "Well, if Jack Silver isn't at that dinner, I'll accidentally let it be known he is down here. You are a big booby. Clara Mudridge-Smith has told her husband she saw ME with Capt. Tynnefoyle."

"That only made the plot thicken," Mr. Jarr explained. "The boss thinks Tynnefoyle is with us to meet Dowling Butts, his leading competitor, who happens to be here too."

"And Mr. Smith didn't think you should be jealous?" asked Mrs. Jarr.

"Of Tynnefoyle? Or anybody else? Why should I be?" asked Mr. Jarr.

Mrs. Jarr was not wholly pleased at this husbandly vote of confidence.

"It's very insulting to Clara Mudridge-Smith to think I would do the indiscreet things she does," murmured Mrs. Jarr. "But just the same if I chose to flirt"——

And she looked into her glass and smiled to herself. Like many other good women, she felt sure she was attractive enough to be wicked, if that were all that was necessary.

Mrs. Jarr cautiously greeted Mrs. Clara Mudridge-Smith. "I thought I saw you," gurgled Mrs. Jarr. "But I had run off from Capt. Tynnefoyle, who had just stopped to speak with me—you know, he's down here with Mr. Jarr on business—when they put up a drawn work table cover for auction in that store. I had promised to come in and bid on it."

"I thought I saw you, but wasn't sure," replied her dearest friend. "Dear Jack Silver is so discreet he pretended not to see you."

"Well, of course, it must be a relief to you to have a young man around once in a while. It's so nice in your husband not to be jealous," replied Mrs. Jarr.

"Nice?" repeated her friend shrilly. "If only the old wretch would be jealous of me! All he is ever jealous of is his business! He isn't half as afraid of losing his wife's affections as he is of losing an employe to a rival firm!" And the dashing young matron dashed a tear of vexation from her eye.

The thickset man who had arrested Bernard Blodger and the rest of the party Mrs. Jarr had come to town with was now seen hovering mysteriously in the offing.

"Will you excuse me, my dear," asked Mrs. Jarr.

And she tripped away, smiling blithely, though with the awful feeling obsessing her that the thickset detective had come to apprehend her in connection with the wholesale arrests he had made of the Blodgers, the Cackleberrys, the Smunks, the Bingles and Harold Dogstory, who had climbed into the Klassy Kar that Cecil Dedringham had stolen while Mrs. Jarr had held back.

"Your friends are at the police station," said the detective. "We've got word that they've pinches the guy who really stole the car. If you will come to the station and substantiate your friends' statements we can let them all go, now we got the car. Otherwise we'll have to hold them till this afternoon."

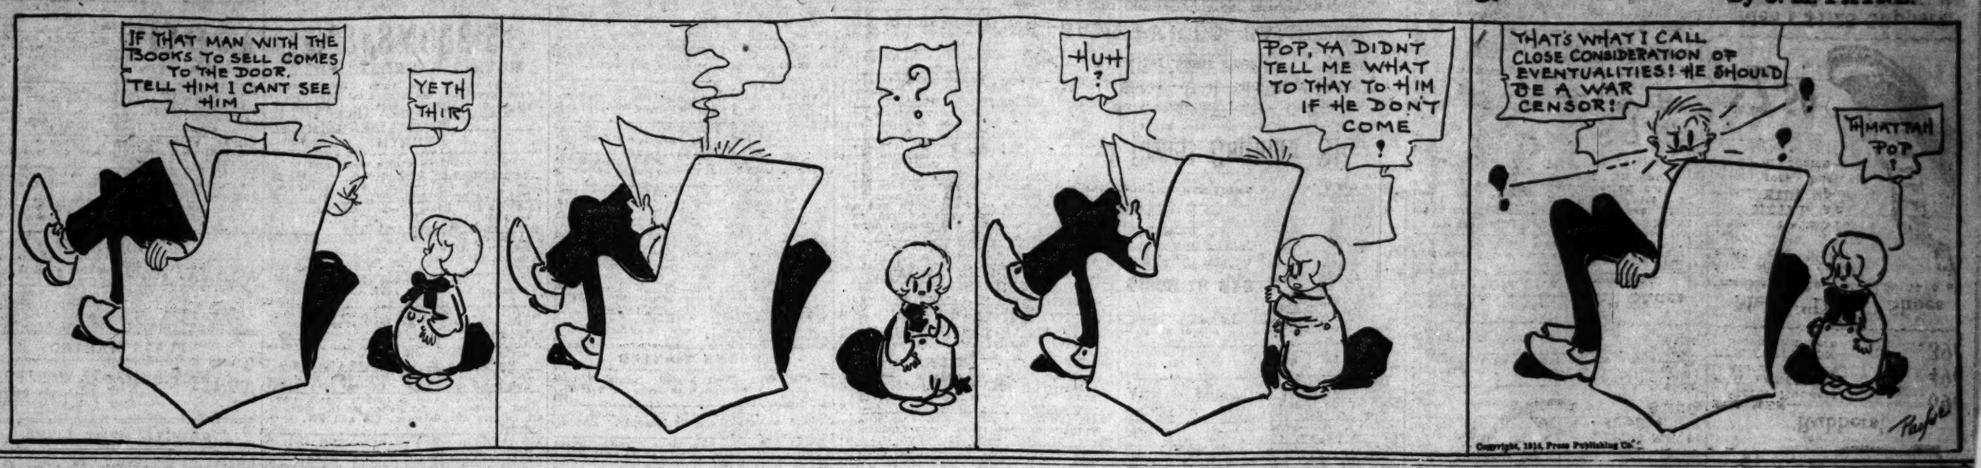

"I think that would be the best thing to do," said Mrs. Jarr sweetly. "The fact is, they are comparative strangers to me!"

And so they were when it came to a chance of the whole motley crew being released and descending upon the scene before Mr. Jarr had gotten his boss out of the danger zone of explanations.

Slogans of Success

By Hazen Conklin.

NO man ever merely dreamed himself into fortune.

THE man who sits under the plum tree waiting for the fruit to fall gets only bruised plums.

NO man ever grew rich on poor excuses.

NO success machine satisfactorily will run backward unless it is equipped with a "reverse gear."

IF you would see success, be the man who put the "I" in ideas."

LIFE is a game played with both stakes and mistakes.

MOST of the "room at the top" is made by those who go to sleep there and roll off.

THE pitfalls of business are filled with the men who "didn't look where they were going."

Ever Notice It?

IF you've a mind to, you'll notice most of the contributions to the conscience fund are small ones.

No Place Like It.

FRED BROMLEY was an artist of the impressionist school. He had just given the last touches to a purple and blue canvas when his young wife came into the studio.

"This is the landscape I wanted you to suggest a title for, dear," said he, standing aside and proudly surveying his work.

"Why not call it 'Home?'" said she, after a reflective look.

"'Home?' Why?"

"Because there's no place like it," she replied meekly, as becomes a wife who is entirely without the finer feelings of imagination.—Lippincott's.

Good Explanation.

WHAT does this sentence mean?" asked the teacher. "Man proposes, but God disposes."

A small boy in the back of the room waved his hand frantically.

"Well, Thomas," said the teacher, "what does it mean?"

"It means," answered Thomas with conscious pride, "that a man might ask a woman to marry him but only the Lord knows whether she will or not."

Rather Ambiguous.

HERE'S a letter from a man named Jones," said the scientist's secretary. "He wants to know if it is really true that man is descended from the monkey family."

"Oh, tell him to come in and see me," replied the scientist.

Very Easy.

IT is said that two people can live on less than one. How do you account for it?"

"Necessity."

If all persons always expressed all their thoughts in the presence of those whom they concern, friendship would cease to be.—Albany Journal.

Many an accomplished man never accomplishes anything, while many a man without accomplishments accomplishes much.—Deseret News.

I've created a sensation! I've beaten them all to it!
